Little Rock Truck Driver Held As Bombing Suspect

Charged Under Statute On Use Of Explosives

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) —A 35-year-old Little Rock truck driver has been arrested and charged in connection with three explosions here Monday night.

He was identified late Wednesday in a joint statement by the Little Rock Police Department and the Federal Bureau of Investigation as J. D. Sims.

The explosions, the latest outbreak of violence in the Little Rock integration crisis, damaged a school board office, the private office of the mayor and a city-owned automobile driven by the fire chief.

Sims, the statement said, had been charged under state laws concerning the use of explosives and destroying public property. He was arrested at 5:30 p.m. e.d.t. Tuesday.

Police and the FBI were tight lipped.

There was no indication if Sims had admitted the bombings.

The statement made no reference to racial implications in the arrest.

Little Rock attorney Amis Guthridge, attorney for the segregationist Capital Citizens Council, filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus Wednesday afternoon. It was presented to Supreme Court Justice Jim Johnson.

The petition alleged that Sims had not been charged, and therefore had not been entitled to make bond.

Meanwhile, Johnson said formal charges were filed against Sims, and the justice denied "relief."

Ike Addresses Nation Tonight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower's radio - TV speech Thursday night is expected to include a last-minute appeal to Americans to receive Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev courteously but not to expect too much from his visit.

Administration officials said the President hoped his talk would enable the American public to see the Khrushchev visit in its proper perspective.

They said Eisenhower probably would explain again his reasons for inviting Khrushchev to this country and caution against expecting any dramatic thaws in the cold war. The Soviet leader is due in Washington next Tuesday.

Eisenhower was said to realize the danger of a bad let-down if Americans and other peoples pinned too much hope on the prospect that his talks with Khrushchev would bear immediate fruits.

First Atlas Fired By Combat Troops

ICBM Operational, SAC Commander Says

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI) — The first operational Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile, America's newest big stick in the cold war, was successfully fired 4300 miles over the Pacific Ocean Wednesday.

"It's operational," Gen. Thomas S. Power, commander of the Strategic Air Command (SAC), told a post-launch news conference. "This is a tremendous milestone we made today."

It was the initial launch of the 6300-mile range missile by a SAC crew in training here.

The Atlas made a deafening roar as it climbed straight up into a clear blue sky, trailing a tail of fire.

The official SAC announcement after the shot was that the Atlas traveled about 4300 miles at 16,000 miles an hour before hurtling into the ocean in the vicinity of Wake Island. The descent was in the "ballpark" southwest of Hawaii that was also used for the attempted recoveries of the Discoverer satellite program.

The Air Force indicated no recovery attempts would be made in connection with Wednesday's launching.

Power said "like any other new weapon it will take time to develop its full capabilities. Now we have the tidying up operation. The Atlas is going to add much to SAC's deterrent posture.

"We are satisfied with the missile today," Lt. Gen. David Wade, commander of Vandenberg, told reporters. Power smiled, adding "we are more than satisfied."

Power said there will be further training shots at the base at the rate of about one "every two or three months."

Kite-Flyer Falls To Death Trying To Escape Dog

NEW YORK (UPI) —A 67-year-old woman turned her large shepherd dog loose at two boys who were flying a kite from the roof of her apartment building Wednesday, and one of the boys fell to his death in terror, police said.

Jesus Acosta Delgano, 16, died in Lincoln Hospital two hours after he fell from the roof of a six story building in the Bronx.

Police said Delgano toppled over the edge of the roof trying to escape the dog, which had been let loose moments before by Mrs. Anna Maronet, a widow who lives on the sixth floor of the building.

Delgano and Antonio Hernandez, 14, who live in the building, were flying kites from the roof, apparently annoying Mrs. Maronet, police said.

Firms Reject 'Summit Talks' In Steel Strike

NEW YORK (UPI) — Steelworkers President David J. McDonald Wednesday again called on the chief executives of the 12 major steel companies to take part in negotiations to end the nation's longest post - war steel strike, but the companies again refused his request.

McDonald mailed a letter to President Eisenhower, who had called for stepped up negotiations, enclosing a copy of a telegram he sent to the 12 struck steel companies.

McDonald asked that the company chiefs enter continuous negotiations to end the 57-day old nationwide walkout instead of permitting their joint four-man team to do the bargaining.

But the companies, in a telegram sent Wednesday night and signed by the 12 executives, said no.

"We reaffirm that the only orderly and the most expeditious way to settle the current steel dispute promptly in accordance with the President's request is to continue on a stepped up basis to negotiate with the four-man bargaining team heretofore designated to act for our respective steel companies," the company executives said.

"The negotiations to date have not suffered from any lack of authority in our bargaining team," they added.

"Our negotiators are ready and willing to devote whatever time is necessary to reach a sound settlement."

McDonald had urged the steel executives to meet this week and keep negotiating "until we agree upon the principles of a basic economic settlement."

Appeal Seen Move To Ease Khrush Trip

Chou Blames India In Border Quarrel, Offers Negotiations

The carefully worded appeal, issued by the official Soviet news agency Tass, avoided taking sides, but called the border incidents deplorable. Neither of the principals was blamed. Some Westerners were.

The statement made clear that the Soviet Union does not want its friends in Asia to rock the boat during Premier Nikita Khrushchev's trip to the United States next week.

The Tass statement, unattributed to any individual but obviously backed by the weight of Soviet government opinion, charged that "definite political quarters and the press" in Western countries, especially the United States, are trying to whip up a noisy campaign and drive a wedge between India and Red China.

These Western reports, Tass charged, are aimed at stirring up tension and "complicating the situation" on the eve of Khrushchev's trip to meet President Eisenhower.

Thus did the Soviet Union outline its position for the first time since Prime Minister Nehru of India accused Communist China Aug. 26 of aggression.

The Soviet Union has been faced with a dilemma between their Chinese Communist allies and the Indians, whom they have been wooing with costly aid programs for years.

The Soviet statement was issued only hours after the New China News Agency, Red Chinese counterpart of Tass, published the text of a conciliatory note to Nehru from Premier Chou En-lai of Communist China offering to settle the quarrel through friendly negotiations.

Red China's Chou Offers To Negotiate

TOKYO (AP) — Red China offered Wednesday to settle its border quarrels with India through friendly negotiations. But a note from Premier Chou En-lai insisted India is to blame and demanded the withdrawal of Indian troops he said are trespassing.

Answering a letter from Indian Prime Minister Nehru—who accused the Reds Aug. 26 of agression—Chou offered the concession of withdrawing Peiping's claims to Bhutan and Sikkin, two Himalayan buffer states squeezed in between India and Communist-controlled Tibet.

Chou's letter, dated Tuesday, was released by the Communist New China News Agency just a few hours before Tass, its Soviet counterpart, published an official Soviet statement calling on India and China to settle their problems peacefully.

The tone of Chou's letter was largely conciliatory. It was written only a week before the open-

Dog Turns Self In At Pound

Action By U.N. On Tibet Asked By Dalai Lama

SOUGHT — Robert Garfield Brown, Jr., (above) has been added to the FBI's list of the "10 most wanted men," the Department of Justice announced yesterday. The FBI said Brown, a long-time car thief, was being sought also for the shooting and robbery of a Canadian tourist last July at Old Orchard Beach in Maine. He is a native of Brookline, Mass.

Intervention Plea Directed To Secretary

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) —The Dalai Lama Wednesday night asked the United Nations General Assembly to take up the Chinese Communist seizure of Tibet.

It was the first move to bring before the world organization the case of Tibet, sanctuary of thousands of Buddhist monks who were routed and slain by Chinese Red forces earlier this year when the Dalai Lama, their leader, refused to bow to the Peiping regime.

He did not specify what type of action he desired but said:

"The sufferings which my people are undergoing are beyond description and it is imperatively necessary that this wanton and ruthless murder of my people should be immediately brought to an end.

"It is in these circumstances that I appeal to you and the U.N. in the confidence that our appeal will receive consideration which it deserves."

The Dalai Lama asked that the assembly's general or steering committee take up the Tibetan case "on its own initiative," without having the item sponsored by any specific country.

The General Committee includes the assembly president, the nine vice presidents and the chairmen of the seven assembly committees. It must approve any item for assembly consideration.

The Dalai Lama emphasized that "Tibet was a sovereign state at the time when her territorial integrity was violated by the Chinese armies in 1950."

Spectacular Blaze Quelled At Jersey City

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — A series of explosions in drums filled with chemicals fed a roaring fire on the waterfront Wednesday. Seven warehouse buildings stocked with inflammables were destroyed.

Some two dozen firemen were felled by smoke and heat and seven were hospitalized. They were in good condition in Jersey City Medical Center, however, and no one was injured seriously.

The first explosion went off just after 12:30 p.m. in the Wheeler Bros. Transportation Co. warehouse near the Caven Point Army Terminal.

The resulting fire touched off blasts in 50-gallon drums of antifreeze, oxides and refrigerants stored in the group of buildings.

Muffled at first, the explosions continued for two hours as every piece of Jersey City fire equipment was dispatched to the scene.

Later, as the buildings were burned away, the explosions were accompanied by pyrotechnics, with orange fireballs tossed into the air. Some of the torn metal drums were hurled onto the New Jersey Turnpike Hudson County extension about 1,000 feet away. Both lanes of the toll road were closed down until about 3 p.m.

Firemen declared the blaze under control at 3 p.m., but as late as 6 p.m. small drums still were blowing up and rising as much as 50 feet into the air.

Power lines were toppled as a result of the fire and electricity went off in the Caven Point industrial area.

In the Black Tom explosions, munitions docks blew up July 30, 1916, with the loss of two lives and some 40 million dollars in damage. The disaster later was traced to German saboteurs.

U.S. Munitions Flown To Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) —The United States Wednesday flew in eight plane loads of rifles, grenades and other military supplies for Laotian government forces battling Communist troops in this southeast Asian kingdom.

The new U. S. supplies were airlifted into Laos shortly after a Laotian government communique announced that royal troops had recaptured Muong Sone, a post directly west of the key city of Samneua, from Communist rebels.

(In Washington, the U. S. Defense Department disclosed that more army signal troops were being sent to the Pacific. Asked whether the troops might be sent to Laos, a department spokesman said the Pacific command could deploy them as it saw fit.)

Ike Plans No India Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has no definite plans to visit India although he has said many times he would like to go there, the White House said Wednesday.

Demos Hope To Override Eisenhower

Senate Approves Housing Measure; Gas Tax Hike Voted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democratic-controlled Congress eagerly accepted a new veto challenge from President Eisenhower Wednesday after sending him a gasoline tax increase bill he is expected to sign.

The Senate meanwhile passed 86-7 a billion-dollar housing bill cut to a pattern acceptable to the President. He rejected two previous measures as too costly and inflationary.

Eisenhower's message saying he had vetoed a second-round public works money bill reached the House after it had adjourned for the day, so the veto will not be official until Thursday.

But advance word of the veto had circulated on Capitol Hill, and House leaders ordered a vote on overriding the President's rejection as soon as the message is formally received Thursday.

Last Wednesday, the House failed by one vote to override Eisenhower's veto of an earlier version of the measure, often referred to as pork barrel bill because it contains money for hundreds of navigation, flood control and other projects in virtually every congressional district in the nation.

Demo Leaders Confident

Apparently, Democratic leaders feel they have the strength this time to tip the outcome the other way.

The veto of the new $1,185,309,093 bill comes as no surprise, since it contains money for 67 projects Eisenhower did not recommend — the same unbudgeted projects that prompted the earlier rejection. However, the second-round bill is fractionally less costly than the other.

The new bill—with all of its projects shaved 2½ per cent — whipped through the House Tuesday by a 302-93 vote. The Senate followed suit by a 73-15 vote Tuesday night. In both cases, the margin of passage was way beyond the two-thirds majorities needed to override a veto.

Never so far has Congress been able to override an Eisenhower veto—and he has racked up 146 of them since becoming president more than 6½ years ago.

Before quitting overnight, the Senate ignored a threat of an Eisenhower veto shouted by GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and passed an 800 million dollars bill to help cities clean up pollution in the nation's streams. The vote was 61-27.

Housing Bill "Veto Proof"

The new housing bill was considered veto-proof. It was cleared by the Senate Banking Committee Tuesday after word came from the White House that Eisenhower would sign it. The committee made changes intended to meet the President's strongest objections.

The measure provides eight billion dollars in new home mortgage insurance authority, along with broad authorizations for slum elimination, public housing and other programs in the housing field.

Another key issue was cleared away when the House, by voice vote, completed congressional approval of a bill boosting the federal tax on gasoline from 3 to 4 cents a gallon, effective Oct. 1.

Tearful Ingrid Wins New Round In Custody Battle

A temporary ruling putting them in her charge for most of each year was upheld by Rome's Civil Court.

Tears flowed down the Swedish film star's cheeks when the court rejected Rossellini's appeal for reversal of the ruling and his request for permanent custody.

She cried also when the Italian film director, her husband for seven years, angrily objected to her calling him "Mr. Rossellini."

"Call me Roberto, like you always did, or I won't answer you," Rossellini said.

It was their first meeting since Nov. 2, 1957, when a legal separation in a cold Rome courtroom ended their once romantic union.

Miss Bergman, now living in France as the wife of Swedish businessman Lars Schmidt, turned her pretty back on Rossellini when they met at the start of the two-hour session.

"Why can't we be friends as we always were?" he asked.

Miss Bergman then turned, smiled, and gave him her hand.

Miss Bergman hastened to Santa Marinella, 20 miles north of Rome, to see her children. She was laden with toys.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —A one-ton Mercury type space capsule blazed hundreds of miles across the Atlantic Wednesday and was recovered northeast of Antigua eight hours later.

Scientists aboard the destroyer Strong, which fished the simulated space craft out of the water, reported it in excellent condition.

This indicated that the test flight would yield vast amounts of data required by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration before the first Mercury astronaut can be launched safely into orbit.

Robert Gilruth, director of NASA's Project Mercury, told a news conference that the firing was mainly a test of the shape and design of a space capsule, and from that standpoint was very successful.

Gilruth added although the capsule's re-entry in the earth's atmosphere was somewhat steeper than planned, it was a "very rigorous re-entry, experiencing high heat loads and high rates of deceleration," and would produce a great deal of useful information.

Furthermore, Gilruth said, it turned out to be an excellent test of the recovery operation because the capsule landed several hundred miles from the planned point of impact and far from most of the recovery facilities.

The capsule, a cone 6 feet wide at its base and 9½ feet long, tapering to a 20-inch diameter at the nose, was launched by a big Joe Atlas rocket at 2:19 a.m. EST.

It was a perfect launching. The Big Joe was modified to lift the capsule to about 100 miles, then tilt over and send the simulated space ship on a 2,000 mile flattened course through the earth's atmosphere to a landing near Antigua.

The purpose of the flight was to study the friction heating and deceleration forces a space pilot will encounter when his capsule plows back into the atmosphere.

The 85-foot, 250,000-pound Atlas has two booster engines, each with 150,000 pounds thrust, and a main sustainer engine of 60,000 pounds thrust.

In normal liftoff the boosters drop away after firing, and the sustainer vastly accelerates the rocket as soon as the dead booster weight is shedded.

In Wednesday's firing, for the first time in any Atlas launching, the 10-foot long skirt section containing the booster engines failed to separate and fall away.

NASA said the sustainer separated properly and sent the capsule straight on its course down the Atlantic missile test range.

But because it had carried the spent boosters through the final launching phase where every ounce of weight is significant, the rocket failed to reach its assigned goal.

Fire Spares Deadwood; Evacuees Begin Return

DEADWOOD, S.D. (AP) —Families scattered over the Black Hills by a forest fire evacuation order were permitted back into town Wednesday night.

Sheriff Richard McGrath had refrained from letting the 3,000 evacuees come back until he was certain the tricky fire had been neutralized.

A state official said the Deadwood fire burned over some 5,000 acres. He placed the greatest single property damage at $300,000, the estimated replacement value of the Northwest Post and Pole Co.

More than 24 hours after the blaze broke out some 800 men were still in the forests near the famed gold mining town, seeking to keep the waning blaze under control.

The weatherman had somewhat cheering words. He said winds should continue northeasterly, holding the blazes against the firebreaks frantically erected during Tuesday night's calm.

He did say however that winds were still gusting to 50 miles an hour in places and probably would not die until nightfall.

The 4,000 persons of the area who moved out ahead of the suddenly reversing fire late Tuesday were lodged as far away as Custer, 57 miles to the south.

Many families were separated and were reunited only after tedious cross telephoning.

McGrath pinned down loss to Deadwood at seven or eight homes, a few trailer homes and four businesses.

There was one serious injury, a bulldozer operator who was swept over by flames.

Motherwell Fights Extradition, Would Return Voluntarily

ATLANTA (AP)—Attorneys for Larry Lord Motherwell said Wednesday he would return voluntarily to California if permitted to do so, but they stoutly resisted efforts to extradite him on charges of murdering a wealthy widow.

At an extradition hearing before Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry Neal, the attorneys, John T. Reges and Simon Tucker of Washington, D.C. attacked legality of California papers charging the 43-year-old carpenter with the murder of Mrs. Pearl Ida Putney, 72, whose bones were found in Sierra County, Calif., last Aug. 16.

However, questions by Neal, legal aide to Gov. Ernest Vandiver, indicated that he believes the extradition documents are in order. Neal will study the case and then submit it to the governor for a decision.

Reges insisted the extradition papers were faulty because the affidavit of Sheriff W. Dewey Johnson of Sierra County did not allege that Motherwell was in California at the time of commission of the crime — the slaying of Mrs. Putney.

The attorneys first refused to let Motherwell answer questions about his presence in California on the ground of self incrimination. But finally after continued insistence by Neal that the hearing was an administrative matter held at Motherwell's request, Reges turned to Motherwell and asked:

"Were you in California on Aug. 15, 1958?" — the last time Mrs. Putney was seen alive.

Motherwell, who had been grimly following the legal sparring, replied in a low voice, "Yes, sir, I was."

Kenneth Horton, special agent for the California Dept. of Justice, said Motherwell told him he registered in a Marysville, Calif., motel with Mrs. Putney on Aug. 14, 1958 and left on Aug. 15 by the Feather River Route, which passes through Sierra County.

Racket Probe Windup Urged By McClellan

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Rackets Committee Wednesday tentatively rang down the curtain on its sensational three-year investigation of labor - management corruption.

McClellan delivered what sounded like the committee's "swan song" in the face of Republican demands that the group continue and expand the GOP-led investigation of the UAW, which has touched off a bitter wrangle between Republican and Democratic committee members.

Sens. Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb.) and Karl E. Mundt (R-S.D.) said the case of GOP members had presented was only preliminary and showed the need for a "thoroughgoing" study of the big auto workers union led by Walter Reuther.

But Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), in his strongest blast yet at the way the UAW hearing was handled, registered a sharp dissent.

Kennedy called the hearing a "monumental misuse of time." He charged that the Republicans had used the committee to "carry on political warfare" and to "indict a union whose political philosophy differed from theirs."

McClellan commented tartly that he was not "overwhelmingly impressed with the veracity of either side" during the hearing and would as soon drop the whole thing. He said the committee should now proceed to wind up its affairs and issue it final reports.

ing of the U.N. General Assembly session in New York, when India again will take the floor to plead for Chinese Communist membership in the world organization.

The Chinese Communist Premier was answering a March 22 letter from Nehru. He claimed the reason he waited so long was that he had been "somewhat surprised" to find basic differences on boundaries between New Delhi and Peiping.

Chou wrote Nehru that the Indians, and not the Chinese, crossed the MacMahon Line. He also pointed out that China does not recognize this boundary line drawn up before World War I.

Lollipop Thief

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Police say that among the loot in two break-ins charged to a Navy wife were 82 lollipops and 12 headache powders. Mrs. Katherine V. Christian, 29, mother of two, was found early Wednesday in a restaurant, from which $52.60 was missing. The goodies and headache powders, it is charged, were taken from a service station a block away.

Desperado Put On Most Wanted List

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The FBI Wednesday put a 41 - year - old drunk who was once just a small time automobile thief on its list of 10 most wanted fugitives.

He is Robert Garfield Brown Jr., who has been wanted since July 9 for the vicious robbery of a vacationing Canadian couple on a beach at Old Orchard, Maine. During the robbery, the husband was shot without provocation.

The FBI said that Brown's accomplice in the crime was captured and that he named Brown as the trigger-man. It said the victim was left paralyzed by the shooting.

Brown's criminal career began in 1947. Born Jan. 12, 1918, at Brookline, Mass., he served time in the New Hampshire State Prison for breaking and entering, larceny and parole breaking, and in the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., for car theft and burglary in Washington, D.C.

The FBI describes Brown as "trigger happy" and a sharp-shooting marksman who, according to friends, once shot the heads off two chickens with two bullets at a distance of 50 feet.

Burglars Steal Truck Loaded With Shrimp

BALTIMORE (AP)—Agile burglars climbed to the roof of a fish company warehouse Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning, loaded a truck with shrimp from a refrigerator and drove it away. The truck, with "Seaboard Fish Co." painted on its side, was valued at $3,500 and the shrimp at $3,600 by the firm's owner, William F. Hilgenberg, who also is state banking commissioner.

Police said the theft was discovered when employes arrived at work about 7 a.m. Wednesday.

Judge Opposes Dope Law Jail Provision

BALTIMORE (AP) — Criminal Court Judge Joseph Allen Wednesday opposed the mandatory jail provision of Maryland's narcotic law.

"A judge is given discretion in much more serious crimes," Allen told a special Legislative Council committee studying drug addiction.

The law which provides a five-year sentence on a second narcotic offense and a 15-year term for a third conviction was supported by Capt. Joseph Carroll, head of the Baltimore Police Department's narcotics squad.

Carroll said the mandatory sentence was important to the enforcement picture, because both the pusher (seller) and the addict have to be "taken off the street."

The captain said "95 per cent of the pushers are addicts themselves," adding that it was "addicts who make addicts."

Two Escape Serious Injury In Plane Crash

BALTIMORE (AP) — Two Baltimore men escaped serious injury Wednesday when their light plane was caught in a downdraft and crashed into a tree north of here.

The injured were identified as Leroy Davis, 35, the pilot, and Forrest Gesswein, 39, a passenger, both of Baltimore. Davis suffered a cut lip, and Gesswein a broken arm.

Davis said he had just taken off from Rutherford Field in a Stinson, single-engine plane when it hit a downdraft about 100 yards from the end of the runway.

So says proverb-loving Nikita Sergeyevich Khrushchev, who for most of his political life has lived with the wolves of Communist intrigue.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, assessing the Soviet premier who will visit the United States next week, summed him up as one who would have made a good machine politician in any country.

The round, ebullient Communist boss learned his politics from an old master of intrigue and betrayal, Joseph Stalin. But striking differences in method make it plain Khrushchev can hardly hope to achieve the totality of power which Stalin wielded.

Khrushchev is as noisy as Stalin was taciturn. He is as accessible as Stalin was hidden and mysterious. He is as eager for outside contacts as Stalin was suspicious of them.

Stalin was a Bolshevik plotter long before the Russian revolution. Khrushchev was a Johnny-come-lately who joined the Bolshevik wing of the Communist party only at the outset of civil war, when he already was 24. Stalin was an educated man. Khrushchev first saw the inside of a school at 27.

"The policy of chopping off heads does no good," said Stalin, who then went ahead and chopped off the heads of his enemies. Khrushchev, since his arrival at the peak of power, has not done that. There seems little prospect he will be able to do it.

Unlike Stalin, Khrushchev lacked a vast secret police machine. The army of secret police had been purged severely after the post-Stalin collective leadership moved in on police chief Lavrenty Beria and had him executed.

Stalin used terror as an instrument of his policies. Khrushchev went along with terror only long enough to destroy Beria and his powerful police machine. Thereafter he eased away from it, in violation of the principle expounded by Bolshevism's founder, V. I. Lenin, that terror must be an instrument of state power.

Some Khrushchev methods echo Stalin. He places the same overriding emphasis on production by heavy industry to build state and world power, to the detriment of the consumer economy. Like Stalin, Khrushchev is beginning to take credit for every success, real or debatable, that the Soviet system enjoys.

But the differences between the two seem far more important than the similarities.

Khrushchev came to power as the head of an educated people, far removed from the frightened, easily regimented masses over whom Stalin first established his vast and terrible authority.

Stalin ruled a revolutionary party of fanatics who surged to power on a wave of violent revolution. Today's party no longer is revolutionary. The word is anathema when applied to the Soviet Union. Revolution is a process the Soviet Communists reserve for the non-Communist world.

To this party and a nation with a growing middle class which defies the predictions of doctrinaire Marxism - Leninism, Khrushchev has had to make promises. Many men and women now make good incomes. Their money won't buy the consumer goods they want. The goods are not there.

Khrushchev, while continuing to stress the all-out priority of heavy industry, has had to make the promises. They will have, he has told them, the world's highest living standard—some day.

"But," said Khrushchev recently in a word of warning, "when we speak of satisfying the demands of the people, we do not mean capricious demands and pretensions to luxury, but the healthy needs of a civilized man."

Pretensions to luxury are for the Communists in the upper reaches. And for them—and Khrushchev—it can be dangerous for today's Soviet citizen to dream too much.

Refund Claim Made Too Late

BALTIMORE (AP) — A former Washington businessman has lost his claim for a refund of income taxes because he made the claim too late.

The businessman, Alfred B. Stewart, brought suit to recover $11,375 in taxes he said he overpaid in 1943-47 on taxes deducted from his employes' wages. Stewart now lives in Florida.

Judge Roszel C. Thomsen of U.S. District Court, ruling in favor of the government by dismissing the case, said:

"I'm sorry to see somebody who has a claim lose out because of failure to take action in time, but I don't see that I have any power."

Stewart said, through his attorney, that the taxes were paid in December of 1949 as a result of an audit made by the Treasury Department. The government said he should have filed for refund within two years.

Nikirk Arraignment Set September 18

BALTIMORE (AP)—Edward Nikirk, state's attorney for Frederick County, will be arraigned on a Federal income tax charge on Sept. 18, the U.S. attorney's office said Wednesday.

Nikirk, free in $1,000 bail, is accused in a three-count indictment of failing to report proper income for the years 1952, 1953 and 1954.

The indictment says he reported income of $8,034 for 1952 when he should have reported $19,519; $7,318 for 1953 when it should have been $20,168, and $5,492 in 1954 when he should have reported $16,456.

The arraignment is scheduled before U.S. District Judge R. Dorsey Watkins.

Condition Improves

ROME (UPI)—Doctors Wednesday reported the condition of Federico Cardinal Tedeschini as "improved somewhat." The 85-year-old cardinal was operated on for an intestinal ailment last week.

Big Tanker Launched At Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — The S.S. Gulfsolar, 29,250-ton tanker under contract to the Gulf Oil Corp., was launched Wednesday at the Bethlehem-Sparrows Point Shipyard.

The 645-foot ship is the third of six vessels being built here for Gulf during a two-year fleet expansion program. The S.S. Gulfcrest and the S.S. Gulfpride were launched in April and June.

Mrs. Bob R. Dorsey of Pittsburgh, wife of Gulf's administrative vice president, sponsored the ship at the launching under blue skies with a light breeze.

New Howard County Courthouse Planned

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. (AP) — The Howard County Planning Commission has proposed the erection of a new courthouse and county office building on a 50-acre tract southwest of Ellicott City.

The two buildings would form the hub of a governmental, cultural and business complex in the area where the county's heaviest residential growth is forecast.

Under the plan, now before the county commissioners, the present courthouse would be turned into a museum and historical society. Other buildings now occupied by the county government would revert to residential use.

Airport Renamed

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I felt terribly sorry for the woman who wrote that she was bored and lonesome because her husband travels. I have tried all your suggestions. Would you be interested in the results?

1. Join a club. I did. It disbanded until October 1. Everyone is away for the summer.

2. Have a baby. I can't. Adoption agencies are working on it but they're slow.

3. Get a hobby. I have gobs of 'em. I sew, knit, paint, do ceramics, have a rock collection —nothing is fun alone.

4. Take a study course. I've studied Voltaire, Tolstoy, Darwin, Mark, Plato and Freud. Now what?

5. Go to church. I do — every Sunday for two hours. Then I go home — alone.

6. Make friends. I have zillions, but they all have husbands and I have no desire to be a fifth wheel.

I've even tried things you didn't mention. I have two cats, a hi-fi, I've re-done my house, written letters to everyone I know, cleaned the closets, recovered my shelves, re-arranged my dresser drawers, hemmed the dish towels, bleached my hair, manicured my nails, sorted the laundry, taken a sunbath and baked a lemon pie.

Now tell me, Ann Landers, am I beyond hope? If you suggest a head-doctor I'll tell you frankly I've been thinking about it. — LOOSE ENDS

DEAR LOOSE: Try writing. With your flair for words you'd be great.

DEAR ANN: Our marriage lasted six weeks. We parted company to think things through. After seven months we decided we had made a terrible mistake and we're now in the process of being divorced.

What is the proper procedure concerning the wedding gifts? The in-laws are virtually strangers to me. Shall I return everything that came from his family and friends? — P. Z.

DEAR P. Z.: The gifts belong to you. Wedding gifts should be returned only if there is no wedding.

DEAR ANN: My parents have been married 21 years and everything was all right until two years ago. My father got involved in some "get-rich-quick" schemes and he lost quite a lot of money in bad investments.

My mother began to nag at him so he started to stay out all night. She said so long as he was never home she wasn't about to sit around and twiddle her thumbs. So she started to go out, too. If something isn't done I'm afraid there's going to be a divorce.

I'll be 18 soon and I'm old enough to take care of myself. But my younger sister is only 12 and I'm worried about her. Can you help me? — AWAKE NIGHTS

DEAR AWAKE: Somewhere along the line your parents stopped communicating with each other. Instead of working out their problems they made excuses. Mother began to run around because Father was running. Father started to run because Mother nagged him. Mother nagged him because he made bad investments.

Ask them to visit a clergyman together. They owe it to you and your sister to make an honest attempt to save their marriage. Good luck.

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Water To Flush Potomac River Here Not Available, Says Commission Head

The chairman of the Upper Potomac River Commission said yesterday that under present conditions "It is impossible to release additional water from the Savage River Dam" to flush the river here and erase an odor condition.

John J. McMullen of this city said Savage River and Stoney River dams are currently supplying approximately 75 per cent of the Potomac River flow because of a dry spell.

Amount of water currently stored in the Savage River Dam is lower than the seasonal curve, McMullen added.

Savage River Dam was designed to supply a minimum flow of 60,000,000 gallons a day at Luke. The flow at Luke now is 63,000,000 gallons, 44 million of which are coming from Savage River Dam, it was pointed out. When weather conditions are good and precipitation normal, the flow could be kept at 100,000,000 gallons a day or better, McMullen said.

At the present rate of release from Savage River Dam, McMullen predicted there is sufficient water to carry the current flow for several months. Because of weather conditions and other factors, this is difficult to predict, however, he added.

The dam was designed to release enough water for approximately 100 days. Rains which fall from time to time supplement the supply and could stretch the number of days on which sufficient water can be released.

"Under current conditions, there is no extra amount of water for release to be used for the purpose which Cumberland has requested and no real relief would be afforded by such release because of economic and other reasons which exist along river," McMullen asserted.

At Luke, the average flow was 70,000,000 gallons a day during the past month. A flow of 60,000,000 gallons must be maintained. Of the average flow in the last month, Savage River Dam supplied 39,000,000 gallons.

In July, the average flow at Luke was 74,000,000 of which 34,000,000 was supplied by the Dam; and in June the Luke average flow was 178,000,000 gallons of which 32,000,000 were supplied by the dam.

The current dry spell began about mid-June. Prior to that time, the flow had reached as much as 300,000,000 to 500,000,000 gallons.

In view of these facts, McMullen said there is no surplus water to be released without running the risk of a depletion later.

Odor from the Potomac on the West Side was termed "abominable" by Street Commissioner John J. Long at Tuesday's meeting of the Mayor and Council. He asked that since the Savage River Dam is located above the city, couldn't the Potomac be flushed occasionally?

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum had been authorized to contact the Upper Potomac River Commission to see what steps could be taken to clear up the odor.

Holiday Free Of Fatalities

Maryland State Police in Allegany and Garrett counties, after hundreds of hours and thousands of miles patroling highways, noted that the two-county area had a fatality-free long Labor Day weekend.

Lt. W. E. O'Hara, commander of the LaVale Barracks, said there were only six personal injury accidents in which eight persons were hurt and only one of them seriously.

In addition, the long weekend only saw five mishaps in which there was property damage.

During the time from Thursday night to Monday morning, the 28 state troopers assigned to the two counties made 126 arrests, an increase of 22 over the July 4 period.

They also issued 373 warnings, the same number as for the Fourth of July.

The 28 troopers spent 1,251 hours on the roads, amassing a total of 17,615 miles.

All leaves were cancelled over the weekend as all officers, from troopers to sergeants, took to the highways.

Piedmont Council Orders Study For Sewage Rates

PIEDMONT—The Mayor and Council in special session Monday night authorized the Robert T. Regester engineering firm of Baltimore to prepare proposed sewage rates for the community, subject to approval by the West Virginia Public Service Commission.

Harry Brenner, representative of the engineering firm which made the preliminary survey for necessary facilities to connect with the sewage plant being built at the lower end of Westernport, stated the cost of preparing the proposed rates should not exceed $500.

At present, Piedmont does not make a sewer charge, and basis of charges for the proposed rates would be cost plus 50 per cent, Council spokesmen said.

The town has made application for a $30,000 grant from the federal government and hopes to receive the money during the 1960-61 program of the federal agency.

A representative of the Walter, Woody and Heimerdinger Bonding Company of Cincinnati, the agent for the town in selling the proposed bond issue, said it will b necessary to sell about $150,000 in bonds to receive $120,000 needed in operating capital. The bonds will be issued in $1,000 denominations.

The sewage plant is being built by the Upper Potomac River Commission for the principal use of the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company. Piedmont, Westernport and Luke have been offered the opportunity to connect into the plant, and the towns have indicated they propose to do so.

A contract has not yet been signed by the town and the commission, and it was ordered that Owen Hitchins be contacted so that an agreement can be signed up between the interested parties.

W.Va. School Board Okays 15 Per Cent Budget Jump

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The West Virginia Board of Education Wednesday approved an overall 15 per cent increase in its budget for the 1960-61 fiscal year. It also approved a 15 per cent budget increase for the State Department of Education.

The board also approved preliminary plans and a cost estimate for construction of an upholstery shop at the state rehabilitation center at Institute. The estimated cost of the project is $140,000.

The board delayed action on a request by the Council of College Presidents for additional money for faculty salary raises for 1960-61.

In other action closing a two-day meeting, the board said it was all right for colleges to allow youth political organizations to be formed on the campus. But it emphasized the president and faculty members should keep an eye on these activities.

Concord College's new president Joseph F. Marsh Jr. raised the question as to how the board felt about Young Democrat or Young Republican clubs being organized at a college.

The board said such groups should not be allowed to hold individual rallies or otherwise allow their political activity to get out of hand. It said it was permissible for forums or debates to be held with each political youth organization participating.

The board's next meeting is Oct. 26-27.

Opening lead: Queen of ♥.

Declarer in today's hand was presented with a very skinny dummy, so that he was forced to produce a form of squeeze and end play in order to land his three no trump contract.

West opened the queen of hearts which was ducked all the way around as declarer permitted the lead to hold. West continued with the jack which went to dummy's king. The ten of diamonds was led and East covered with the king. This is the correct play, since it preserves West's entry if he happens to hold the ace of diamonds and loses nothing if declarer has the ace. South won and played the jack of diamonds, but West with an eye to shutting out the rest of dummy's diamonds refused to take the queen.

At this point, declarer decided to abandon the diamond suit. Dummy's queen of spades would prove to be an entry only if West held the king of spades, but if declarer persisted with the establishment of the diamonds the defenders would surely build up enough tricks to sink the contract, what with the established hearts, the diamond, and the eventual king of spades.

Declarer shifted his attack by leading a low spade. West took the king, then knocked out South's second stopper in hearts. Declarer then led a spade to the queen and a spade back to his ace. On this trick West had to make an embarrassing discard. He must either unguard the club queen, or the diamond queen, or discard one of his good hearts. He chose to release a heart whereupon declarer threw him in with a diamond. He could cash one heart which was his fourth trick, but then had to lead from his queen of clubs. On the low lead the jack was put up and, when it held, declarer took the last three tricks.

A FINAL DEMONSTRATION CLIMAXING FORD'S 3 YEARS AND 3 MILLION MILES OF RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT ON THE NEW FORD FALCON . . .

EXPERIENCE RUN, U.S.A.

A fleet of Falcons is going to undergo a final exhausting test . . . over every single mile of numbered U.S. Federal Highway . . . along a crisscross route that will include the ups and downs of two major mountain ranges, the vicious heat and dust of two vast deserts, the mile-high frost of the Pacific Northwest, the challenges of every type of roadway and thruway, main street and boulevard.

TODAY . . . 10 P.M. THE NEW-SIZE FORD STARTS ON ITS WAY TO YOU!

The Falcon, the New-Size Ford, already is the most thoroughly tested and proven new car in history. Today this new Ford Falcon starts EXPERIENCE RUN, U.S.A., over every mile of numbered U.S. highway

This is not a test run in the ordinary sense of the word. For in its 3 years of development and over 3 million miles of proving, the New-size Ford, the Falcon has already passed and repassed every kind of test that could be devised.

It's been dust-tested, heat-tested, and endurance-tested on the test track at Kingman, Arizona. Wind-tested and rain-tested in the 300 mph wind tunnel at the University of Maryland. Shock-tested, curve-tested, brake-tested, noise-tested, paint-tested, stability-tested, service-tested . . . everything-tested on Ford's own proving grounds. The Falcon has already proved to engineers that it can take anything they can dish out.

Now, all that remains is to show you what the Falcon can do over your kind of roads. And Experience Run, U.S.A. will do just that.

Now being demonstrated in your kind of driving. To prove that an economy car can be built with enough size, stability and weight to compete safely in the heaviest flow of traffic . . . a great white fleet of Falcons has fanned out across the country to drive over every last mile of numbered U.S. Federal Highway, including the very highways you drive in your own locality.

How many miles to the gallon? Records will be kept of every drop of gas used. Better gas mileage, you ask? The Falcon will average up to 30 miles per gallon! Experience Run, U.S.A., will also convincingly demonstrate the Falcon's sports car handling and agility, plus its big-car ride and comfort. And America will learn how easily the Falcon can carry six big adults plus all their baggage.

On October 8, the New-size Ford will be at your Ford Dealer's . . . for you to experience. See your Ford Dealer today for more information on the Falcon.

Some Unsolved School Problems

With the opening of the 1959-60 school term, the U. S. Office of Education has released statistics showing an even poorer educational situation in public schools and colleges than last year. This is a reminder that the problems of education are not abating but are being compounded at a faster rate each year.

Each of the last 15 years has witnessed a sizable increase in enrollment—a 50 per cent increase in the last 10 years—and the school age population shows no signs of slowing its expansion in the immediate future. But expanding population is but one of three factors joining forces to create educators' headaches.

A larger percentage of the school population between the ages of five and 17 is availing itself of the advantages of education than ever before. Ninety per cent of the current generation of young people is in school, compared to 82 per cent 10 years ago.

Another factor working against those who are trying to alleviate crowded classrooms is the rapid turnover in teachers. Previously, the turnover rate was believed to be 7.5 per cent, but the Office of Education has found it to be nearly 11 per cent. This is the scoreboard for education 1960:

Shortage of classrooms, 130,000.

Shortage of teachers, 195,000.

Almost 2 million more pupils enrolled this year than last.

No solution to any of these problems is in sight.

Too Short For Truth

It is possible to compress paragraphs into aphoristic sentences, short, tight, glib and inexact. Charles Broad of Phoenix, Arizona, writes me that I had taken several hundred words to expound what he could say in one short sentence. His sentence follows:

"Education never can take the place of intelligence, but intelligence can oftentimes prove to be superior to education."

What Broad says is quite true, but it is not the whole truth. An astrophysicist can be aided by intelligence but without the accumulation of disciplined knowledge, his intelligence can only help him to guess. A geologist may have a brilliant mind that will help him to amass a fortune, but without expert knowledge of the structure and composition of the Earth, he will make guesses, some of which may work out. The amount of education—knowledge of physics, chemistry, dynamics, and other scientific disciplines—that goes into the making of a rocket cannot be picked up by using one's intelligence, although that is how Benjamin Franklin, the most authentic genius produced on this continent, did do.

There are very few Franklins in the world and it is doubtful whether the brillance of intellect of Franklin or the wonderful mind of Leonardo da Vinci could build the "Nautilus." That required special, disciplined work at a university in the field of physics and mathematics, with additional knowledge of the function of the atom and how it responds under certain extraordinary conditions.

One of the reasons that the intellectual is not respected in the United States as he is in Europe or Asia is because in this country so much has, in the past, been achieved by businessmen who applied common sense to comparatively simple problems. Henry Ford, for instance, picked up the concept of the continuous movement of a product from one worker to another on a transmission belt from a slaughter house in Chicago. He used his intelligence, applied it to the manufacture of automobiles, developed a method of production known as mass production and in Soviet nomenclature known as "rationalization of industry."

This is the application of intelligence by an unschooled man to an important problem, but Henry Ford, had he attempted to develop penicillin or the application of radium to a cancerous growth, would have had to know much more than he did.

Of course, the answer can be that no producer of penicillin ever made as much money as Ford did, but that is begging the question. To make a modern drug, it is necessary to know a great many scientific facts, including the whole range of molecular chemistry.

The other day, a young lady came to see me with her father. He could not understand what his young lady was doing at college except that it cost him more than he figured. His young lady was majoring in Chemistry and was at the stage at which mathematics consumes most attention. By mathematics her father understands arithmetic. That he can do very well. He can add, subtract and put the difference in his bank account.

But his daughter's mathematics he cannot understand at all. "They don't even deal in numbers," he said to me. "They have X's and Y's and Greek letters and what can you do with it? How do you apply it?"

So I tried to explain to him the important role of this peculiar kind of mathematics in modern science and how valuable his daughter might be if she is any good. So we got to talking about "common sense," which proves beyond doubt that two plus two is four and you make a profit. But suppose a farmer applies common sense and his cows eat a certain kind of grass and their udders bleed until they die. What good is common sense? So it gave me a chance to tell the wonderful story of heparin, dicumerol and coumadin which have saved the lives of so many people by thinning the blood.

And it all came about because some cows ate certain grass which thinned their blood until they bled to death. Intelligence is valuable to identify this phenomenon when it is seen, but the man to identify anything had to possess an enormous knowledge of chemistry and bio-chemistry.

Knowledge of this kind is most advantageously obtained in universities in an orderly disciplined fashion under the tutelage of highly-trained men and women. Intelligence is good but not good enough.

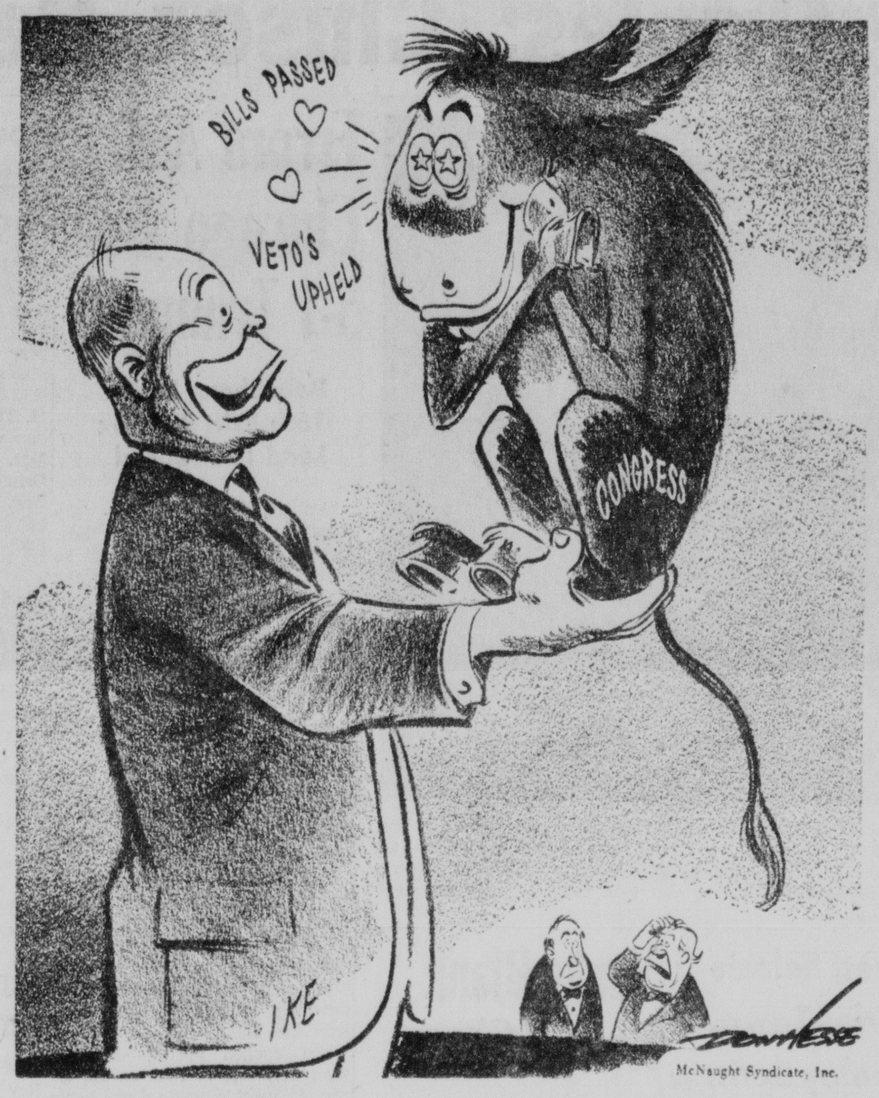
'I Still Don't Know How He Does It'



Southeast Asia's Future Hinges On Samneua

By Joseph Alsop

SAMNEUA, Laos.

Quite suddenly the future of Southeast Asia (for that is the real stake in the game in Laos) has come to hinge on this place. What, then, is this Samneua where the tragedy of Dien Bien Phu threatens to be reenacted on a smaller scale, but with even more far reaching results?

To this reporter, on his second visit to the front here, Samneua is many different things at once. It is, to begin with, a landscape of the strangest beauty, unlike any in the world except in Southeast Asia.

The place lies in a short and narrow valley, wholly surrounded by steep mountains and craggy hills. In this season of the rains, the river rushes through the valley all brown and turbid. The rice fields are bright emerald. The great forest trees mingled with the plumes of giant bamboos on the mountain slopes show a hundred other greens. Even the landscape is important, for Samneua lives by its air strip; and a mountain almost literally rises from each end of the runway, the fantastic approach to Samneua is impossible for anything bigger than a C47.

Then, besides landscape, Samneua is people. A prince of Samneua once had his petty court here; but the prince's ex-capital is no bigger than a large village. The mud and thatch built houses begin by the plank bridge over the rushing river and straggle along a dusty road for half a mile or so. Below the bridge, the children swim naked. Above the bridge is the bathing place of the adults. There are always pale copper-bronze bodies making painters patterns in the tobacco colored water.

The bathers, the people in the little shops, the women in the market place who will sell you leaf-wrapped packets of mountain opium, are all oddly calm and cheerful, considering that the nearest enemy forces are only five miles from the village. You see no smiles among the refugees from the surrounding region now held by the Communist invaders from North Viet Nam. There are many hundreds of them now—whole home defense companies with their weapons, entire families from the frontier villages, women and children who have come in alone, leaving the men to fight as Maquis in the jungles. Yet among the refugees there is no sign of the glum hopelessness of refugees in other parts of the world.

The people are also important, if only because anyone who talks to many of the refugees cannot possibly retain any of the comforting doubts expressed at home about the reality and massiveness of the invasion from North Viet Nam. It is easy to say that "the aggression is not proven," when you are fiv. thousand miles from the scene. But talk to a few dozen of these simple, brave, uncomplaining men and women who have been driven from their homes by the Communist invaders. Then the aggression will seem very real to you indeed.

Then, besides people, Samneua is history. For more than two millenia this part of Southeast Asia has been the haven for successive migrations pushed out of China by the remorseless expansion of the Chinese. The last comers have always driven their predecessors further up the mountains. The result is a sort of human layer cake, with the richest layer at the bottom.

Thus the Laos, like the Thais of Thailand, were first pushed by the Chinese out of what is now Central China, and then, another millenium later, were pushed out of South China. They were the last comers here; and so the Laos hold the rice lands. The Meos, the Black Thais and other such-like people live at the mid-level of the hills. And the poor, primitive Khas, the indigenous race, eke out their pitiful living on the peaks and crests.

Symbolically at least, this history is important too. For Samneua is now in deadly danger from a Communist invasion, solely because the age-old process of Chinese expansion has begun again with a new explosive force.

Finally, besides history, Samneua is also the main base and stronghold of the Lao army's resistance to the Communist invaders—which was, of course, why this reporter came to Samneua at all. But as a military base, it must be admitted, Samneua is not dramatically impressive.

At first, indeed, except for the troops and supplies being landed on the airstrip, you see no sign that the place has any military meaning. The Lao army, having almost no communications, does almost no paper work, and the entire staff of the Regional Commander, General Amkha, fits comfortably into a screened veranda at his house on a hill above the village. Besides the refugee home guards, there are almost no soldiers in the village streets.

But look at the crests of the encircling hills and mountains. Here and there, you will notice a crest which has been stripped of jungle growth, so that you can just see the outline of a tent or two. Here are the nearer outposts. As for the rest of Samneua's seven defending battalions, you must make a jungle march to reach them. But the enemy, never seen in this war unless he is upon you, is none-the-less so near Samneua that the jungle march is now very short.

Such is Samneua, a pleasant, infinitely remote, once peaceful little place that is suddenly being humbled and will perhaps soon be crushed by the jaws of great events. It is hard to believe that the fate of Southeast Asia may hang upon Samneua's fate. Yet it may; really may.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

"MOUSEDONIA"—Although indirect, a good word has been spoken for the new Senate office building. The brave words have been spoken by Senator Hugh Scott, Pennsylvania Republican, whose offices are in the old building.

He put it this way: "In this building we are unhampered by luxury, new carpets, doors for newly cut partitions in the walls or other attributes of gracious living.

"We are at war with the world of small animals. Along the basement corridors, even in the height of the tourist season, mice outnumber constituents. The feminine members of my staff report that mice are so numerous as to cause considerable distress of mind. In fact this may lead to a female boycott of the basement floor except when absolutely necessary."

There is serious consideration of issuing an appeal to the housekeeping committee of the Senate to "come over to Mousedonia and help us."

Recreating Mutual Trust Will Be Eisenhower-Khrushchev Problem

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Georgi Zaroubin, former Russian Ambassador to the United States, used to remind his staff that Soviet officers were once given a special section in the Pentagon in Washington, guarded by their own Red Army troops, from which they could send their own coded messages to Moscow without monitoring or other interference by the United States.

Ambassador Zaroubin, who was more friendly to the United States than most people realized, cited this as an illustration of how closely the USA and USSR had worked together during the war, and how mutual trust prevailed at that time.

For there is no trust between Russia and the United States today. The propaganda machines of both countries have been pounding away at each other so hard and for so long that there is profound distrust, plus fear that commitments, if made, will be broken. And if we are to begin a period of peaceful competition, or co-existence, as Khrushchev indicated in his recent "Foreign Affairs" article, there has got to be trust in each nation's commitments. This is the only alternative to war. It's important to remember, however, that trust did prevail during the war, and has been attested to by such hard-boiled statesmen as Winston Churchill and Adm. William D. Leahy, who sat in on the Teheran, Yalta and Potsdam conferences.

Russia Kept Its Word

"Fears expressed by many," Leahy wrote in his memoirs, "that Russia would make a separate peace with Germany, particularly when we were unable to mount a second front in 1943, have proved unfounded. Russia had kept every military agreement made before then."

But as the war neared its final stages, suspicion began to creep in. Significantly it was generated by exactly the same problem which caused deadlock at the recent Geneva conference, deadlock at the summit conference of 1955 and has disrupted American-Russian relations for 15 years—the future of Germany.

The Soviet leaders were deathly afraid that a new and powerful Germany might rise again, and that we would help build it.

Because this basic problem of Germany will be the main subject of conversation between Eisenhower and Khrushchev, it's important to go back and examine history.

The first flare-up of distrust between the USSR and its allies occurred in March 1945, just two months before Hitler surrendered. Allen Dulles, brother of the late John Foster Dulles, and the "U. S. master spy" in Switzerland, had picked up intimations that German Gen. Karl Wolff, ranking SS officer in Italy, wanted to arrange for the surrender of German forces in Northern Italy.

Playing it straight with our Russian allies, the State Department informed Moscow of this move on March 11. But when Foreign Minister Molotov wanted three Soviet officers present at any talks to be held with the Germans, Gen. John R. Deane, U. S. military attache in Moscow, opposed. His recommendation was accepted by Washington, and a meeting was held with General Wolff on March 19 at Locarno, Switzerland, with two Allied officers present, but no Russians.

Stalin Gets Savage

"During the last two weeks," accused Molotov on March 23, "behind the back of the Soviet government, which has been carrying on the main burden of the war against Germany, representatives of the American and British command and representatives of the Germany military command are carrying on negotiations. The government of the USSR considers this absolutely inadmissible."

Stalin in an even harsher note to Roosevelt claimed that the talks had permitted the Nazis to transfer three divisions from Italy to the Eastern Front, thus saving British-American lives at the expense of Russian lives.

"As a result of these separate negotiations in Berne," Stalin wrote Roosevelt in a second note, "the Anglo-American troops get the possibility to advance into the heart of Germany almost without resistance. . . . At the same time, the Germans continue the war with Russia, the ally of England and the United States."

"The Anglo-Americans have promised in return to ease for the Germans the peace terms," Stalin charged.

Roosevelt's Death

His death helped restore some degree of unity among the three chief allies, but only temporarily. Suspicion continued and grew more bitter.

It is impossible at this point in history to ascertain which side was most to blame. Historians will probably debate this for years to come. To this observer, who closely followed this difficult period, there was considerable fault on both sides. Stalin and the Russians, suspicious by nature, knew that before the war, the Cliveden set in London, with many followers in the United States, had done its best to foment war between Germany and Russia.

At the same time, Harry Truman, who in his memoirs frankly admitted his own inadequacy in coping with the crisis following FDR's death, also suffered from an inferiority complex. He too was suspicious.

So suspicion and distrust on both sides was compounded, with the question of a powerful and possibly belligerent Germany the basic cause of that suspicion.

How the distrust grew and the means by which Eisenhower and Khrushchev may remove it will be the subject of future columns.

Holding The Line

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK—Contrary to the "dope," the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, for the moment at least, is holding the line on its discount rate. This is the charge to member banks borrowing at the Federal Reserve.

No change in the present 3½ per cent rate was announced after the market's close Sept. 3—the normal time for such announcements.

Expectations had been that the discount rate would be raised to 4 per cent. The 3½ per cent rate was established three months ago. That was the fifth increase from the 1¾ rate set in April of 1958.

There is strong opinion that regardless of the increase by commercial banks in their prime money rates from 4½ to 5 per cent, the Federal Reserve should go slow in following the crowd.

This opinion is that the Reserve should wait until the picture as to Fall and early Winter is clearer. If the steel strike continues through Oct. 1, it can slow down the business boom. If that should happen, money would become easier.

Also if this should develop—a slowdown in business—and if the Reserve were to raise the discount rate now, the Federal Reserve might have to backtrack very fast, as it did after mistakenly raising money rates too rapidly and too far in 1957.

In August of '57, the Federal Reserve in the face of a declining stock market and business, jacked the discount rate to 3½ per cent—the seventh straight increase, starting in April of '55 from 1½ per cent.

The situation today is not strictly comparable to August of '57, although the stock market has been declining. Business, though, is booming in spite of the steel strike. This, as noted above, could change if the steel strike runs beyond Oct. 1. So, a wait and see policy seems the smart course for the Federal Reserve—if it has the courage.

Also, there is very little chiseling on the discount rate, even with prime money rates at 5 per cent. Chiseling is making some easy money by rediscounting 5 per cent better paper at the Federal at a cost of 3½ per cent.

The prime rate is what the commercial banks charge their top-quality customers on short term loans. This rate influences that charged for lesser quality borrowers and also mortgage rates.

The Reserve's tight money policy—which was revived a year ago—is on the assumption that it will curb the inflation. This is on the assumption—a mistaken one in this writer's opinion—that today's inflation is a credit one. It isn't.

This is a wage-price spiral and government deficit spending inflation, on which money rates have little influence. If anything, higher interest costs add to the inflation—forcing up costs of carrying the federal, state and local debts—which means more taxes.

The only way the wage-price spiral can be checked is through more efficient production. This is the main issue in the steel strike. Management is seeking to regain some of its rights to manage that have been bargained away in past wage settlements.

The big danger in the mounting costs of borrowing is the effect these charges will have on home building. The home builder can pass part of the higher interest onto Government, for mortgage interest is tax deductible at the home owner's top bracket.

How Does Virus Fit Into The Cancer Picture?

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

No one knows the cause of cancer of the large intestine but the possibility that virus is responsible crops up from time to time. We know for certain that polyps of the colon and ulcerative colitis are forerunners of malignancy in many cases. A recent discovery may answer the question as to how the virus fits into the picture.

Dr. Cecilie Leuchtenberger noted peculiar round bodies in polyp cells of the rectum and colon. The particles contain desoxyribose nucleic acid (DNA). They were not present in the normal cells of the intestinal wall or in the polyps that developed elsewhere in the body. Nasal polyps, for example, never became cancerous. In this respect they differ from those in the bowel.

Dr. Ferdinand C. Helwig of Kansas City continued these studies and found identical round nuclei in the intestinal wall of 56 per cent of persons with long standing chronic ulcerative colitis. This fits into the jigsaw puzzle because the incidence of cancer of the colon is higher in victims of chronic ulcerative colitis, especially if the condition has lasted 10 or more years.

Cancer occurs 30 to 100 times more often in this group than in those who do not have the disease. Irritation from colitis encourages the development of polyps which, in many instances, become cancerous.

Dr. Leuchtenberger noted these bodies in more than 600 cases of benign and malignant polyps in the rectum. Preliminary studies under the electron microscope indicate that viruses are in these bodies. This suggests but does not prove that viruses are responsible for colon cancer. This information adds nothing to our attack on cancer at present, except to remind us that polyps in this area are potentially dangerous and should be removed. Perhaps the viruses get into the colon during an ordinary cold, intestinal flu, as other innocent disease.

CHOLESTEROL

D. J. writes: Do cocktails make a high blood cholesterol higher?

REPLY

There is no cholesterol or fat in cocktails except perhaps a trace in the olive. To my knowledge, no resaerch has been done on the effect of alcohol on the blood cholesterol level.

FLABBY AFTER REDUCING

Mrs. G. writes: Since taking off weight the skin on my arms and legs is flabby. Will massaging with alcohol do any good?

REPLY

Massage may help a bit but it will take time for the skin to regain its tone. Exercise may be of some value. Plastic surgery will be needed to get rid of large aprons of skin.

SWITCHING TO PILLS

E. P. writes: Would a diabetic who has been using insulin by injection have to go to the hospital if he switched to pills? Or could the changeover be made safely at home or in the doctor's office?

REPLY

This depends upon the severity of the disease. Many diabetics have been switched to tablets in the home or the office. But it is easier and safer to do so in the hospital where a more careful study of blood sugar levels and the urine can be made.

WAX SHORTAGE

T. W. writes: What causes dry ears?

REPLY

Dermatitis of the lining membranes and too little wax are the most common causes.

SHAVING AT 13

Mrs. R. writes: Is age 13 too young for a girl to start shaving underarm hair?

REPLY

No.

MENOPAUSE

R. L. writes: How many women lose their minds during the menopause?

REPLY

Not many. Those who do were emotionally unstable long before the menopause. In this respect, the mental break and the change are coincidental.

EYE HEADACHE

R. M. writes: In headache due to eyestrain what part of the head hurts?

REPLY

Behind and above the eyes.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

A Texas industrialist had to visit our big new state, Alaska, but he was on the defensive every moment that he was there—and conceded nothing. "Am I the first girl you ever kissed?" she whispered softly in the back porch swing. "That's quite possible," admitted her legal light escort. "Were you in Atlantic City in 1947?

Tribe Wins Pair From Orioles; Chisox Beat Senators

Cleveland Extends Win Skein To Six

Pick Up Ground In AL Race With 3-2, 4-1 Victories

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The Cleveland Indians ran their winning streak to six straight games Wednesday night and climbed to within 4½ games of first place by defeating the Baltimore Orioles, 3-2 and 4-1 in a twi-night double-header.

Veteran Jack Harshman and rookie Jim Perry gave an excellent demonstration of control pitching as both hurled five-hitters.

Harshman did not walk a batter in winning the first game while Perry did not issue a pass in the second until he walked Bob Nieman with one out in the ninth. It was Perry's only walk.

Three of the five hits off Perry came in the fourth inning when the Orioles tied the score at 1-1. Gene Woodling, Bob Boyd and Brooks Robinson contributed two-out singles to ruin Perry's bid for a shutout. The win was his 11th against seven defeats. He struck out three.

Cleveland tagged the loss on Hal Brown who is now 9-8. Rocky Colavito's double scoring Minnie Minoso in the sixth broke the 1-1 tie and the Tribe added two insurance runs in the seventh on three singles and Woodie Held's triple.

Willie Tasby's three-base error on George Strickland's ninth-inning single to center enabled the Tribe to win the opener.

Strickland's hit, his third of the game, dropped in front of the on-charging Tasby, shot by him and then rolled to the base of the wire screen in centerfield, 410 feet from home plate.

Before Tasby could retrieve the ball Strickland had rounded the bases to give Harshman his fourth win since joining Cleveland. The ex-Oriole left hander has lost none. His overall record for the season is 6-9.

Errors Aid Chicago Gain 5-1 Triumph

Bob Shaw Posts 15th Win But Sox Lead Is Reduced

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The streaking Chicago White Sox, making the most of the least as usual, took advantage of three Washington errors in the seventh inning to score four runs Wednesday night and beat the Senators, 5-1, behind Bob Shaw's seven-hit pitching.

Shaw, who lost his last two starts, blanked the Senators in every inning but the sixth when they put together singles by Harmon Killebrew, Jim Lemon and Bob Allison to tie the score at 1-1. The victory was Shaw's 15th against 6 defeats.

Ted Kluszewski started Chicago's winning rally in the seventh when he walked and took second on an infield out. Bill Goodman then grounded to Billy Consolo who tried to get Kluszewski at third but hit him in the back with the ball.

Klu reached third and Goodman was safe at first on the error. Al Smith's single drove home Kluszewski and sent Goodman to third. Jim Rivera followed with an infield single that scored pinch runner Sam Esposito. Shaw then bunted safely down the third base line and Killebrew, charging in, accidentally pushed the ball across the plate.

Killebrew retrieved the ball and, thinking Smith was going to score, threw wildly past catcher Steve Korcheck allowing Smith to come home. Dick Hyde relieved loser Tex Clevenger and gave up a sacrifice fly to Luis Aparicio that scored Rivera.

Despite the victory, the White Sox's lead in the American League race was shaved to 4½ games when the second-place Indians swept a twi-night doubleheader from the Orioles.

Co-Medalist Loses Match

Miss Shobe Beaten In Trans-Miss Golf

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (UPI) — National amateur champion Barbara McIntire of Lake Park, Fla., eliminated co-medalist Barbara Ann Slobe of Waukegan, Ill., 5 and 4 Wednesday to advance to the quarter-finals of the Trans-Miss women's golf tournament.

That left only one of the three co-medalists still alive in the swift competition. Judy Eller, the national collegiate golfing queen of Old Hickory, Tenn., eased by Mrs. Ruth White Miller of Long, Beach, Calif., 3 and 2 to gain the quarter-finals.

Judy Englehorn, the other teenager to earn the medalist honor in qualifying, went out Tuesday before Betsy Cullen, the Tulsa, Okla., putting artist.

Wednesday Miss Cullen's putter was hot again and she enjoyed a two-up lead at the turn but confident Sherry Wheeler of Glasgow, Ky., kept coming strong with her long shots and finally won 2 and 1. Miss Wheeler didn't lose a hole on the back side, winning four before she closed out the match with a par 3 on the short 17th hole.

Another favorite survived by a close margin. Mrs. Paul Dye, Jr., of Indianapolis, Ind., was extended to the final hole by Mrs. Maurice Glick before a par 5 got her the match and a quarter-final berth.

Reds Sweep Twin Bill From Cubs

Win 7-2 Following 4-2 10-Inning Tilt

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Cincinnati Reds swept a double-header from the Chicago Cubs Wednesday, winning the opener 4-2 on four singles in the tenth inning and taking the five-inning nightcap 7-2 with home runs by Vada Pinson, Ed Bailey and Frank Robinson.

The double victory gave the Reds sole possession of fifth place. Starter Bob Purkey broke a six-game losing streak with his 11th win in the opener which was delayed 32 minutes by rain.

Pinson got the Reds off to a one-run lead in the first inning and Bailey walloped a two-run homer in the second. The Reds scored four runs in the fifth inning when Nuxhall led off with a double and Gus Bell singled to score him after a walk to Pinson. Robinson then belted his 35th home run of the year over the left-center field wall to score behind Pinson and Bell.

Jerry Lynch, batting for Purkey, hit the third straight single off Glen Hobbie in the 10th inning of the first game to score Eddie Kasko and break a 2-2 tie.

Kasko opened the inning by beating out a slow roller toward third base. Bailey's pinch single moved him to second and he then scored on Lynch's hit.

Bailey was forced at third on Johnny Temple's grounder and Robinson singled off reliever Bill Henry to bring in pinch-runner Bob Henrich with an insurance run.

Old Germans Defeat Post, Enter Finals

Sports Shoppe, Legion Play Tie

The Old Germans rallied for two runs on a throwing error in the fifth inning yesterday to defeat Post Playground, 9-7, capturing their best-of-three semi-final playoffs in the Rec Softball League at Naval Reserve field.

The triumph gave the Old Germans two straight over Post after the Playground tossers had won the opener of the three-game set, 11-2. The Old Gees won the second game 9-6.

Jerry Willison started the winning rally for the Old Gees with a single in the fifth. Tex Ritter and Jim Dunn were both hit by pitches and with two out Vernon Shrout fanned for what should have been the inning ending out. But catcher Ronnie Lewis dropped the third strike and then threw wildly past first as Shrout reached base safely. Willison and Ritter romped home to break a 7-7 deadlock on the double miscue.

Ivan Abe socked a three-run homer to spark a four-run rally for Post in the fifth frame, Paul Stickley had a double, Ronnie Lewis collected two singles and Jim Leamon had a pair of base knocks to account for all six of the losers' bingles.

At Stitcher Field the Sport Shoppe and Ridgeley Legion battled to a 4-4 tie in a game called at the end of seven innings because of darkness. The teams split their first two games of the semi-final playoffs and rescheduled the third and deciding tilt for Friday at 6 p. m. at Stitcher field following yesterday's deadlock.

Both teams collected six hits with Charles Denmark socking a double and Rich Smith collecting a two-run single in the first frame when the Sport Shoppe tallied three times.

The Legion tossers scored three runs in the fourth inning then tied the score at 4-all in the bottom of the sixth with back-to-back doubles by Walt Abe and Jim Weakley.

Yanks Blank Kansas City

Ditmar And Ford Hurl 4-0 Victory

NEW YORK (UPI) — Art Ditmar and Whitey Ford blanked the Kansas City Athletics on four hits Wednesday night as the New York Yankees scored a 4-0 victory.

Ditmar pitched the first eight innings in handing the Athletics their 12th straight defeat and Ford came on to preserve the shutout in the ninth.

The Yankees hung the loss on ex-teammate Johnny Kucks with two unearned runs in the second and a pair of earned runs in the fourth.

Hector Lopez reached base on Jerry Lumpe's error in the second, and came home on Bauer's double. Gil McDougald's single scored Bauer. In the fourth, Yogi Berra doubled, Elston Howard tripled and Lopez singled for the other pair.

Pat Henry Is Rated Best Tech Halfback Since Dickie Beard

Latter Set Modern VPI Rushing Mark

BLACKSBURG, Va., Sept. — Virginia Tech's coaching staff is facing the usual number of question marks, but the Gobbler staff apparently also has one definite answer, Pat Henry.

In overall depth, the Tech halfback positions will depend to a great extent on untried sophomores, but Henry, 5-9, 175, junior letterman from Hagerstown, Md., is the man the coaches rate as their best all-around halfback since Dickie Beard, of Cumberland.

Last season, Henry led the Techmen in scoring (44 points, including seven TDs), rushing (most carries, 78, most yards, 375, best average, 4.8 a carry and longest run from scrimmage, 65) and punt returns.

"Still, I think we tended to under-rate him because at times he didn't play the kind of defense we thought he was capable of playing. Right now, however, he's doing it all and looks as though he's going to be a really great one," Coach Frank Moseley points out.

Pat's father, Mel Henry, now coach at Hagerstown's North High School, still ranks as one of Tech's all-time greats, having led the Gobblers in scoring as a junior in 1936 with 30 points, and a senior with 48.

Pat could surpass these marks because he has the speed to be a "home run" threat, the power and stamina to be the workhorse among the ball carriers and the desire to put the ball in the end zone every time he carries it.

If he has the kind of season Moseley anticipates, Henry will be in a good position to break the modern Tech rushing marks set by Beard, who chalked up 280 carries for 1378 during his last three varsity years.

SEEKS ASYLUM—Francisco Sanchez Leonardo, captain of the Dominican Republic boxing team, said yesterday he will seek political asylum in the United States. The Pan American Games athlete, speaking through Constantine Kangles, general counsel in the U. S. for the government of Cuba, said he never saw liberty until he came to Chicago and "now he'd rather die than let it go."

Colts Cut Halfback From Grid Roster

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts Wednesday asked waivers on offensive halfback Ferd Burket, reducing the preseason roster to 41 players.

Squad's Initial Casualty Is Coach

STORRS, Conn. (AP)—The University of Connecticut had its first football casualty of the season Wednesday—the coach. Head Coach Bob Ingalls put his squad through a one - hour scrimmage, and wasn't quite satisfied with a pass play. In showing the team how he wanted the play handled, Ingalls jumped, tossed the ball. He suffered a charley horse in the left leg when he landed.

Olmedo, Fraser Advance In U.S. Singles Tourney

Holmberg Is Victor Over Butch Buchholz

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (UPI) — Wimbledon champion Alex Olmedo of Peru and Neale Fraser of Australia, solid favorites to clash for the title, gained the quarter-final round of the U. S. tennis singles championships Wednesday on a hot, humid afternoon marred by a 50-minute rainstorm.

Two unseeded Americans —21 year old Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn and U. S. clay court king Bernard (Tut) Bartzen of San Angelo, Tex.—also made it with Holmberg turning in the second major upset of the tournament by completing a delayed five-set victory over seventh-seeded Earl (Butch) Buchholz of St. Louis, 6-3, 7-5, 8-10, 5-7, 6-3. Holmberg led, two sets to one, when his match with Buchholz was halted by darkness Tuesday night.

Olmedo, Wimbledon and Australian champion, was extremely sharp and dispatched talented 18-year-old Chuck McKinley of St. Louis, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4, in a center court match played after the storm. Fraser earlier had trounced 20-year-old Rudy Hernando of Detroit, 6-0, 6-2, 6-3.

Bartzen, a cool, retrieving left-hander, outlasted 36-year-old Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, 2-6, 8-10, 6-0, 6-3, 6-1, in a match interrupted by rain with Bartzen leading 4-0 in the fifth set. In his previous match, Seixas, former Wimbledon and U. S. champion, upset fifth-seeded Ramanathan Krishnan of India.

A fifth men's match between third-seeded Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, and young Bob Mark of Australia, which officials had hoped to stage, was postponed until Thursday.

Public, Parochial Schools Back For 1959-60 Session

Allegany County public and parochial schools got off to a smooth start yesterday for the 1959-60 term.

A spot check showed most reporting an increase in enrollment, one a decrease because of a student transfer necessitated by crowded conditions, while a few others said enrollment figures would not be available for a few days.

Ralph R. Webster, county superintendent of schools, said the opening of schools yesterday went along smoothly. The Board of Education has estimated an enrollment in public schools of 16,000.

There was the usual hectic time of settling back into the routine after a three-month vacation, however.

Public schools will hold another half day session today with the first full day Friday.

Mrs. Gladys M. Eaton, supervisor of cafeterias, said the first school lunches will be served Friday. The menu will consist of toasted cheese sandwich, pickle chips, potato salad with eggs, frosted apple sauce, tinted green, unbaked cookie and milk.

The lunch price will be unchanged—25 cents for children of the first three grades and 30 cents for children in other grades.

Reports from two of the city's parochial schools had higher attendance totals than recorded last year.

Sister Hilda, principal of SS. Peter and Paul School and Ursuline Academy, said 603 students attended grade school classes yesterday, and 183 were enrolled in the academy. The overall total is approximately 100 more than last year's enrollment, Sister Hilda said.

Sister Herman Joseph said 420 students reported for classes yesterday at St. Mary's School. The total for the eight grades is higher than last year's figure, with at least 10 more expected to be added to the enrollment by the end of the week.

Freshmen will enroll today at LaSalle High School, with the upper classmen scheduled to report for enrollment at 9 a. m. Friday. Full sessions will begin next week.

Virginia Avenue PTA To Meet Today

The first meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of Virginia Avenue School will be held today at 7 p. m. at the school. There will be no classroom visitation.

The meeting will be featured by a report from Mrs. Guy Smith, the delegate to the summer conference. Following the meeting, the executive committee will hold a pie and coffee social in the school cafeteria.

Lilya In Hospital

Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator, was reported in "good" condition yesterday at Memorial Hospital where he was admitted as a medical patient on Sunday.

Nurse Gets Fellowship

A graduate of Memorial Hospital School of Nursing has been granted a training fellowship by the Florida State Health Department to the University of Maryland School of Nursing, Baltimore.

Miss Banna Rodriguez, daughter of Joseph and the late Caroline Rodriguez, Luke, is scheduled to begin studies on her master's degree September 21.

A veteran of three theatres of operation in the Army Nurse Corps during World War II (Iceland, ETO and the Pacific), Miss Rodriguez is a consultant in mental health for Palm Beach County. Prior to going to Florida, she was employed by the Atomic Energy Commission at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

A captain in the Army Reserve, she received her bachelor's degree in public health nursing at the University of Michigan after World War II. Miss Rodriguez is also a graduate of Bruce High School, Westernport.

800 Vaccine Shots Arrive

The Salk vaccine supply in Cumberland is limited, but 800 shots were delivered yesterday to the Allegany County Health Department.

A spokesman for the Health Department said the supply arrived from Baltimore yesterday and polio immunization shots will be resumed during regular well-baby clinics.

However, a check with several local drug stores, revealed the supply is very limited. Only one firm reported an ample supply of vaccine on hand.

Most local druggists said there has been a shortage for the past five to six weeks, due mainly to the reports of polio deaths in the Cumberland area.

Market's Late Rally Cuts Into Heavy Early Losses

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks nearly duplicated Tuesday's 9-point loss in industrials before staging a late rally to recover more than half the early loss.

Trading picked up in the erratic market which saw prices firm after the opening, decline throughout the afternoon, and rally before the close. Sales totaled 3,030,000 shares, against 2,940,000 Tuesday.

The early firmness mainly reflected President Eisenhower's plea for an end to the steel strike. There was no follow through of the initial buying, however, and prices dropped to their lows for the day by mid-afternoon. The decline was said to reflect the lack of buyers rather than any general sell-off.

The protracted steel strike, international political developments and possibility of some action by the Federal Reserve Board Thursday afternoon on money rates combined to depress sentiment among traders.

Electronics shares again were the heaviest losers although up substantially from their lows. Motorola lost 2½, and Beckman Instruments and Consolidated Electrodynamics more than 1 each.

Chemicals also were hard hit with Union Carbide off 3¼, Victor Chemical works off 2 and Du-Pont off 1⅜, the latter recovering from an early 8-point loss.

Rails recovered slightly from the day's low but still finished at a new 1959 low. Utilities were small losers.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Be Charming On Paper!

"But note writing is so old-fashioned," my young neighbor protested when her mother urged her to pen a thank-you note.

"Indeed it is not, dear, and never will be," her mother said. "Everyone who does things in the nicest ways always prefers saying thank you in her own handwriting."

I agree heartily. Note writing at the proper time is a social grace that is timeless, and it has charms far beyond the mere observance of etiquette. Think of the gay little notes of appreciation you have received, and you'll remember what a delight they were, and realize in what high esteem you hold the persons who sent them.

Perhaps because it isn't easy to settle a youngster down to writing, some young girls have little experience at it until they are faced with the task of acknowledging wedding gifts. But no one with her eye on a charmer's goal should wait until this situation occurs, nor must she allow herself to forget note-writing later.

Thank a hostess for entertaining you, for a weekend or for a dinner party, or for lesser graciousness toward you. Thank a giver for a gift. Write it, and do it promptly. Promptness is almost as important as writing at all. And write condolences simply and from the heart.

How do you know what to say? The best guide is to write as you speak. The note needn't be long, and it shouldn't be, but it should sound genuine, warm and very like you. Simple, undecorated note paper is best.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Favorable crop reports brought selling into the grain market Wednesday, and most prices were weaker on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the final bell, wheat was off ½ to 1⅛; corn off 1 to up ½; oats unchanged; new oats off ⅛ to ½; rye off ⅝ to 2, and soybeans off 1 to 1⅛.

Wheat prices dropped more than a cent in the September under liquidating pressure. Demand was only fair. Spreaders took September and sold deferred contracts, which also were weaker. Local traders were sellers.

In corn, September rallied from early lows. Evening-up transactions continued. December and March fell to new lows for the season on early general selling. Local buying appeared on the decline. Receipts were light. Export subsidies were granted on 350,000 bushels.

The oats trade was light, and prices were easier. An export house bought some December. Local longs were the best sellers.

Rye was down 2 cents in the September. Other months also finished weak.

Soybeans lost more than a cent. Longs were the main sellers, as in the rest of the grain market. Some cash interests bought early. Reports that harvests were already under way in some areas because of the hot, dry weather were an influence in the selling. Traders awaited the government crop report due Thursday afternoon.

Meals were lower. In the only export trade reported, Japan purchased 511,000 bushels of Pacific wheat.

Outside markets were mostly lower. The Range:

Ohio DA Seeks Data On Local Theft Attempt

Three Defendants Are Free On Bail

The district attorney and assistant district attorney of Cincinnati, Ohio, were in Cumberland yesterday to confer with local and county authorities about a case in which three men were charged with conspiring to attempt to break into the Montgomery Ward Store here.

The Ohio officials met with State's Attorney James S. Getty and City Police Detective Lt. James E. Van to discuss details of the case.

The defendants, Albert Samuel Wright, 42, and Charles Issacs, 32, both of Newport, Ky., and Andrew Joe Forkes, 51, Phoenix, Ariz., were given a preliminary hearing last week in Trial Magistrate Court and were ordered held for action of the October term of the grand jury. They were released after each posted $500 bond.

The Ohio authorities told county authorities that Wright had been recently convicted of a charge of possession of burglary tools, but had appealed the decision.

They said two courts of appeals had upheld the sentence in the case and that Wright was released on $60,000 bond pending another appeal hearing in Cincinnati on October 1.

City Police arrested the three men about 11 p. m. on August 27 and charged them with conspiring to break into the local store.

A fourth man, Nate Bartell, 42, of Cincinnati, was arrested August 31 in Cincinnati in connection with the case. City Police found a complete set of burglary tools in the trunk of Bartell's car.

Mr. Getty has sent papers to Ohio authorities for the purpose of extradition so Bartell may face a charge here of possession of burglary tools.

Judge To File Opinion In Garrett Suit

Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley will file an opinion in a civil action heard yesterday in Garrett County Circuit Court between the owners of a Deep Creek Lake Motel on Route 219 and owners of a coop housing 12 chickens on the other side of the highway.

Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Vannucci, owners of the Point View Inn brought suit for an injunction against Mr. and Mrs. Carl Harvey, owners of the chickens.

Witnesses, including a number of out-of-state motel guests, testified on behalf of the plaintiffs and several residents of the area testified for the defendants.

The trial, which opened at 10 a. m., was concluded at 4:30 p. m. when Judge Fraley indicated he will file an opinion later.

In the declaration filed by Frederick A. Thayer and Stuart Hamill Jr. of Oakland, attorneys for the plaintiffs, it was contended that the chickens had lowered the value of their property.

They also declared that the chickens kept their tenants awake.

The object of the suit is to have an injunction issued against the Harveys, ordering them to move their coop and the 12 chickens.

In the answer filed by Horace P. Whitworth Jr. of Westernport, for the defendants, he countered that the tourists staying at the motel disturb the chickens and as a result they have stopped laying, or have reduced the number of eggs.

Whitworth also contended that the chickens were there first, that the Harveys raised poultry long before the motel was built.

Timber Industry Is Cited For Development In Area

The timber industry has been cited as the most promising development in Western Maryland and the Eastern Shore, according to the current news letter of the Maryland State Planning Commission.

It points out that a writer from Hancock reported that many people of that area, while working actively to bring industries into their communities, "have lost sight of the tremendous possibilities of the timber resources, particularly long term," adding:

"Through Hancock, a town of approximately 2,000, over $500,000 of timber products, mostly pulpwood, is shipped every year.

"There is an almost constant market for railroad ties, mine props and other lumber products. . . . With careful forest management the area's potential income from timber could easily be doubled in the years to come."

The Hancock Bank, the article continues, is offering prizes to farmers who plant a minimum of five acres in trees during the year ending June 1, 1960.

The article also quotes the Maryland Department of Forests and Parks that:

"Despite all that has been done publicly or by individuals, the fact remains that Maryland forests generally are not yet in economically good condition, and produce only about a third of their potential capacity.

Half of Maryland's timber production, the commission reports, comes from the Eastern Shore counties of Worcester, Dorchester, Wicomico and Somerset.

More Funds Are Sought For FSTC

Budget Request Increased 51.9%

Additional general fund appropriations to help run Frostburg State Teachers College and four other Maryland teachers colleges during the next fiscal year are being sought by the State Department of Education.

The department has requested a 47 per cent increase in general fund appropriations to help run the five colleges.

Frostburg State Teachers College, according to the department, is seeking $1,058,683, an increase of $361,657 or 51.9 per cent.

R. Bowen Hardesty, president of the college, last night said the requested increase is necessary due to a larger enrollment at the college which will require additional teaching materials and dietary service.

Also, there is a new salary scale for teachers by the department and an automatic increment for faculty members, as well as for classified employes at the institution.

The requested increase will be additional to the current budget and not for capital improvements, Mr. Hardesty said.

The budget proposals filed with the Department of Budget and Procurement ask for $4,719,275 in general funds, an increase of $1,508,829 over current appropriations.

Each of the five colleges asked for more money ranging from Salisbury's 39 per cent increase to 59.8 per cent for Coppin State.

Amounts sought by the four other colleges are:

Towson, $1,910,163, an increase of $588,354, an increase of 44.5 per cent.

Salisbury, $641,436, an increase of $180,013 or 39 per cent.

Bowie, $559,340, an increase of $188,043, or 45.7 per cent.

Coppin, $509,653, an increase of $190,762 or 59.8 per cent.

Openings Exist In Guard Unit

Openings exist in Company C, First Medium Tank Battalion, 115th Armor, Maryland National Guard, Capt. Eugene M. Light, commanding officer, said last night.

He said the company offers an opportunity for a Guardsman to acquire new skills in radio, track vehicle and wheeled vehicle repair and maintenance.

Captain Light said the company will be conducting an eight-hour drill Sunday at the Armory on South Centre Street for the purpose of gunnery instruction on the 90 mm. guns.

Anyone interested in attending the drill is welcome, according to Captain Light, who said additional information on joining the company may be obtained at the Armory.

Back-To-Work Trek Begins At Sugar Grove

Crews Report To One Steel Firm

Steel began pushing toward the sky as some Cumberland iron workers reported back to work on the Navy's 79-million-dollar radio telescope project at Sugar Grove, W. Va., yesterday.

About two dozen members of Cumberland Local 568, Iron Workers Union, returned to work with Penn-Southern Construction Company after that firm agreed to pay a $5 a day subsistence allowance on the job.

But another 50-some workers disregarded orders of the union's international officers and failed to report for work with the American Bridge Company.

Samuel O. Philip Jr., business agent for the union, said the unauthorized work stoppage began last Tuesday as a result of a dispute over subsistence pay.

He said the lack of adequate living accommodations at reasonable cost near the Pendleton County site had aggravated the situation.

The men were ordered back to work this Tuesday by the international while the dispute was being arbitrated.

Mr. Philip said the subsistence pay is required by the local's contract when other crafts get it. Members of a roofer's local working at the project get a $7 a day allowance, he reported.

It was understood that members of Carpenters Local 1024 did not report back to work yesterday but union officials had no comment on the report.

Up to 120 members of the Iron Workers, Teamsters and Carpenters locals from Cumberland were affected by the Iron Workers subsistence pay dispute.

Little Rock Truck Driver Held As Bombing Suspect

Charged Under Statute On Use Of Explosives

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) —A 35-year-old Little Rock truck driver has been arrested and charged in connection with three explosions here Monday night.

He was identified late Wednesday in a joint statement by the Little Rock Police Department and the Federal Bureau of Investigation as J. D. Sims.

The explosions, the latest outbreak of violence in the Little Rock integration crisis, damaged a school board office, the private office of the mayor and a city-owned automobile driven by the fire chief.

Sims, the statement said, had been charged under state laws concerning the use of explosives and destroying public property. He was arrested at 5:30 p.m. e.d.t. Tuesday.

Police and the FBI were tight lipped.

There was no indication if Sims had admitted the bombings.

The statement made no reference to racial implications in the arrest.

Little Rock attorney Amis Guthridge, attorney for the segregationist Capital Citizens Council, filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus Wednesday afternoon. It was presented to Supreme Court Justice Jim Johnson.

The petition alleged that Sims had not been charged, and therefore had not been entitled to make bond.

Meanwhile, Johnson said formal charges were filed against Sims, and the justice denied "relief."

Kidnaped Youngster Safe But Bare

Ike Addresses Nation Tonight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower's radio - TV speech Thursday night is expected to include a last-minute appeal to Americans to receive Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev courteously but not to expect too much from his visit.

Administration officials said the President hoped his talk would enable the American public to see the Khrushchev visit in its proper perspective.

They said Eisenhower probably would explain again his reasons for inviting Khrushchev to this country and caution against expecting any dramatic thaws in the cold war. The Soviet leader is due in Washington next Tuesday.

Eisenhower was said to realize the danger of a bad let-down if Americans and other peoples pinned too much hope on the prospect that his talks with Khrushchev would bear immediate fruits.

First Atlas Fired By Combat Troops

ICBM Operational, SAC Commander Says

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI) — The first operational Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile, America's newest big stick in the cold war, was successfully fired 4300 miles over the Pacific Ocean Wednesday.

"It's operational," Gen. Thomas S. Power, commander of the Strategic Air Command (SAC), told a post-launch news conference. "This is a tremendous milestone we made today."

It was the initial launch of the 6300-mile range missile by a SAC crew in training here.

The Atlas made a deafening roar as it climbed straight up into a clear blue sky, trailing a tail of fire.

The official SAC announcement after the shot was that the Atlas traveled about 4300 miles at 16,000 miles an hour before hurtling into the ocean in the vicinity of Wake Island. The descent was in the "ballpark" southwest of Hawaii that was also used for the attempted recoveries of the Discoverer satellite program.

The Air Force indicated no recovery attempts would be made in connection with Wednesday's launching.

Power said "like any other new weapon it will take time to develop its full capabilities. Now we have the tidying up operation. The Atlas is going to add much to SAC's deterrent posture.

"We are satisfied with the missile today," Lt. Gen. David Wade, commander of Vandenberg, told reporters. Power smiled, adding "we are more than satisfied."

Power said there will be further training shots at the base at the rate of about one "every two or three months."

Firms Reject 'Summit Talks' In Steel Strike

NEW YORK (UPI) — Steelworkers President David J. McDonald Wednesday again called on the chief executives of the 12 major steel companies to take part in negotiations to end the nation's longest post - war steel strike, but the companies again refused his request.

McDonald mailed a letter to President Eisenhower, who had called for stepped up negotiations, enclosing a copy of a telegram he sent to the 12 struck steel companies.

McDonald asked that the company chiefs enter continuous negotiations to end the 57-day old nationwide walkout instead of permitting their joint four-man team to do the bargaining.

But the companies, in a telegram sent Wednesday night and signed by the 12 executives, said no.

"We reaffirm that the only orderly and the most expeditious way to settle the current steel dispute promptly in accordance with the President's request is to continue on a stepped up basis to negotiate with the four-man bargaining team heretofore designated to act for our respective steel companies," the company executives said.

"The negotiations to date have not suffered from any lack of authority in our bargaining team," they added.

"Our negotiators are ready and willing to devote whatever time is necessary to reach a sound settlement."

McDonald had urged the steel executives to meet this week and keep negotiating "until we agree upon the principles of a basic economic settlement."

Kite-Flyer Falls To Death Trying To Escape Dog

NEW YORK (UPI) —A 67-year-old woman turned her large shepherd dog loose at two boys who were flying a kite from the roof of her apartment building Wednesday, and one of the boys fell to his death in terror, police said.

Authorities planned to file homicide charges against the woman.

Jesus Acosta Delgano, 16, died in Lincoln Hospital two hours after he fell from the roof of a six story building in the Bronx.

Police said Delgano toppled over the edge of the roof trying to escape the dog, which had been let loose moments before by Mrs. Anna Maronet, a widow who lives on the sixth floor of the building.

Delgano and Antonio Hernandez, 14, who live in the building, were flying kites from the roof, apparently annoying Mrs. Maronet, police said.

Tearful Ingrid Wins New Round In Custody Battle

A temporary ruling putting them in her charge for most of each year was upheld by Rome's Civil Court.

Tears flowed down the Swedish film star's cheeks when the court rejected Rossellini's appeal for reversal of the ruling and his request for permanent custody.

She cried also when the Italian film director, her husband for seven years, angrily objected to her calling him "Mr. Rossellini."

"Call me Roberto, like you always did, or I won't answer you," Rossellini said.

It was their first meeting since Nov. 2, 1957, when a legal separation in a cold Rome courtroom ended their once romantic union.

Miss Bergman, now living in France as the wife of Swedish businessman Lars Schmidt, turned her pretty back on Rossellini when they met at the start of the two-hour session.

"Why can't we be friends as we always were?" he asked.

Miss Bergman then turned, smiled, and gave him her hand.

Miss Bergman hastened to Santa Marinella, 20 miles north of Rome, to see her children. She was laden with toys.

Chou Blames India In Border Quarrel, Offers Negotiations

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union Wednesday urged Red China and India to settle their border row and warned the West not to exploit the quarrel.

The carefully worded appeal, issued by the official Soviet news agency Tass, avoided taking sides, but called the border incidents deplorable. Neither of the principals was blamed. Some Westerners were.

The statement made clear that the Soviet Union does not want its friends in Asia to rock the boat during Premier Nikita Khrushchev's trip to the United States next week.

The Tass statement, unattributed to any individual but obviously backed by the weight of Soviet government opinion, charged that "definite political quarters and the press" in Western countries, especially the United States, are trying to whip up a noisy campaign and drive a wedge between India and Red China.

These Western reports, Tass charged, are aimed at stirring up tension and "complicating the situation" on the eve of Khrushchev's trip to meet President Eisenhower.

Thus did the Soviet Union outline its position for the first time since Prime Minister Nehru of India accused Communist China Aug. 26 of aggression.

The Soviet Union has been faced with a dilemma between their Chinese Communist allies and the Indians, whom they have been wooing with costly aid programs for years.

The Soviet statement was issued only hours after the New China News Agency, Red Chinese counterpart of Tass, published the text of a conciliatory note to Nehru from Premier Chou En-lai of Communist China offering to settle the quarrel through friendly negotiations.

Red China's Chou Offers To Negotiate

TOKYO (AP) — Red China offered Wednesday to settle its border quarrels with India through friendly negotiations. But a note from Premier Chou En-lai insisted India is to blame and demanded the withdrawal of Indian troops he said are trespassing.

Answering a letter from Indian Prime Minister Nehru—who accused the Reds Aug. 26 of agression—Chou offered the concession of withdrawing Peiping's claims to Bhutan and Sikkin, two Himalayan buffer states squeezed in between India and Communist-controlled Tibet.

Chou's letter, dated Tuesday, was released by the Communist New China News Agency just a few hours before Tass, its Soviet counterpart, published an official Soviet statement calling on India and China to settle their problems peacefully.

The tone of Chou's letter was largely conciliatory. It was written only a week before the open-

Action By U.N. On Tibet Asked By Dalai Lama

SOUGHT — Robert Garfield Brown, Jr., (above) has been added to the FBI's list of the "10 most wanted men," the Department of Justice announced yesterday. The FBI said Brown, a long-time car thief, was being sought also for the shooting and robbery of a Canadian tourist last July at Old Orchard Beach in Maine. He is a native of Brookline, Mass. (AP Photofax)

Intervention Plea Directed To Secretary

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) —The Dalai Lama Wednesday night asked the United Nations General Assembly to take up the Chinese Communist seizure of Tibet.

It was the first move to bring before the world organization the case of Tibet, sanctuary of thousands of Buddhist monks who were routed and slain by Chinese Red forces earlier this year when the Dalai Lama, their leader, refused to bow to the Peiping regime.

He did not specify what type of action he desired but said:

"The sufferings which my people are undergoing are beyond description and it is imperatively necessary that this wanton and ruthless murder of my people should be immediately brought to an end.

"It is in these circumstances that I appeal to you and the U.N. in the confidence that our appeal will receive consideration which it deserves."

The Dalai Lama asked that the assembly's general or steering committee take up the Tibetan case "on its own initiative," without having the item sponsored by any specific country.

The General Committee includes the assembly president, the nine vice presidents and the chairmen of the seven assembly committees. It must approve any item for assembly consideration.

The Dalai Lama emphasized that "Tibet was a sovereign state at the time when her territorial integrity was violated by the Chinese armies in 1950."

Spectacular Blaze Quelled At Jersey City

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — A series of explosions in drums filled with chemicals fed a roaring fire on the waterfront Wednesday. Seven warehouse buildings stocked with inflammables were destroyed.

Some two dozen firemen were felled by smoke and heat and seven were hospitalized. They were in good condition in Jersey City Medical Center, however, and no one was injured seriously.

The first explosion went off just after 12:30 p.m. in the Wheeler Bros. Transportation Co. warehouse near the Caven Point Army Terminal.

The resulting fire touched off blasts in 50-gallon drums of antifreeze, oxides and refrigerants stored in the group of buildings.

Muffled at first, the explosions continued for two hours as every piece of Jersey City fire equipment was dispatched to the scene.

Later, as the buildings were burned away, the explosions were accompanied by pyrotechnics, with orange fireballs tossed into the air. Some of the torn metal drums were hurled onto the New Jersey Turnpike Hudson County extension about 1,000 feet away. Both lanes of the toll road were closed down until about 3 p.m.

Firemen declared the blaze under control at 3 p.m., but as late as 6 p.m. small drums still were blowing up and rising as much as 50 feet into the air.

Power lines were toppled as a result of the fire and electricity went off in the Caven Point industrial area.

In the Black Tom explosions, munitions docks blew up July 30, 1916, with the loss of two lives and some 40 million dollars in damage. The disaster later was traced to German saboteurs.

U.S. Munitions Flown To Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) —The United States Wednesday flew in eight plane loads of rifles, grenades and other military supplies for Laotian government forces battling Communist troops in this southeast Asian kingdom.

The new U. S. supplies were airlifted into Laos shortly after a Laotian government communique announced that royal troops had recaptured Muong Sone, a post directly west of the key city of Samneua, from Communist rebels.

(In Washington, the U. S. Defense Department disclosed that more army signal troops were being sent to the Pacific. Asked whether the troops might be sent to Laos, a department spokesman said the Pacific command could deploy them as it saw fit.)

Ike Plans No India Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has no definite plans to visit India although he has said many times he would like to go there, the White House said Wednesday.

Demos Hope To Override Eisenhower

Senate Approves Housing Measure; Gas Tax Hike Voted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democratic-controlled Congress eagerly accepted a new veto challenge from President Eisenhower Wednesday after sending him a gasoline tax increase bill he is expected to sign.

The Senate meanwhile passed 86-7 a billion-dollar housing bill cut to a pattern acceptable to the President. He rejected two previous measures as too costly and inflationary.

Eisenhower's message saying he had vetoed a second-round public works money bill reached the House after it had adjourned for the day, so the veto will not be official until Thursday.

But advance word of the veto had circulated on Capitol Hill, and House leaders ordered a vote on overriding the President's rejection as soon as the message is formally received Thursday.

Last Wednesday, the House failed by one vote to override Eisenhower's veto of an earlier version of the measure, often referred to as pork barrel bill because it contains money for hundreds of navigation, flood control and other projects in virtually every congressional district in the nation.

Demo Leaders Confident

Apparently, Democratic leaders feel they have the strength this time to tip the outcome the other way.

The veto of the new $1,185,309,093 bill comes as no surprise, since it contains money for 67 projects Eisenhower did not recommend — the same unbudgeted projects that prompted the earlier rejection. However, the second-round bill is fractionally less costly than the other.

The new bill—with all of its projects shaved 2½ per cent — whipped through the House Tuesday by a 302-93 vote. The Senate followed suit by a 73-15 vote Tuesday night. In both cases, the margin of passage was way beyond the two-thirds majorities needed to override a veto.

Never so far has Congress been able to override an Eisenhower veto—and he has racked up 146 of them since becoming president more than 6½ years ago.

Before quitting overnight, the Senate ignored a threat of an Eisenhower veto shouted by GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and passed an 800 million dollars bill to help cities clean up pollution in the nation's streams. The vote was 61-27.

Housing Bill "Veto Proof"

The new housing bill was considered veto-proof. It was cleared by the Senate Banking Committee Tuesday after word came from the White House that Eisenhower would sign it. The committee made changes intended to meet the President's strongest objections.

The measure provides eight billion dollars in new home mortgage insurance authority, along with broad authorizations for slum elimination, public housing and other programs in the housing field.

Another key issue was cleared away when the House, by voice vote, completed congressional approval of a bill boosting the federal tax on gasoline from 3 to 4 cents a gallon, effective Oct. 1.

Fire Spares Deadwood; Evacuees Begin Return

DEADWOOD, S.D. (AP) —Families scattered over the Black Hills by a forest fire evacuation order were permitted back into town Wednesday night.

Sheriff Richard McGrath had refrained from letting the 3,000 evacuees come back until he was certain the tricky fire had been neutralized.

A state official said the Deadwood fire burned over some 5,000 acres. He placed the greatest single property damage at $300,000, the estimated replacement value of the Northwest Post and Pole Co.

More than 24 hours after the blaze broke out some 800 men were still in the forests near the famed gold mining town, seeking to keep the waning blaze under control.

The weatherman had somewhat cheering words. He said winds should continue northeasterly, holding the blazes against the firebreaks frantically erected during Tuesday night's calm.

He did say however that winds were still gusting to 50 miles an hour in places and probably would not die until nightfall.

The 4,000 persons of the area who moved out ahead of the suddenly reversing fire late Tuesday were lodged as far away as Custer, 57 miles to the south.

Many families were separated and were reunited only after tedious cross telephoning.

McGrath pinned down loss to Deadwood at seven or eight homes, a few trailer homes and four businesses.

There was one serious injury, a bulldozer operator who was swept over by flames.

One-Ton Space Capsule Recovered Intact After Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —A one-ton Mercury type space capsule blazed hundreds of miles across the Atlantic Wednesday and was recovered northeast of Antigua eight hours later.

Scientists aboard the destroyer Strong, which fished the simulated space craft out of the water, reported it in excellent condition.

This indicated that the test flight would yield vast amounts of data required by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration before the first Mercury astronaut can be launched safely into orbit.

Robert Gilruth, director of NASA's Project Mercury, told a news conference that the firing was mainly a test of the shape and design of a space capsule, and from that standpoint was very successful.

Gilruth added although the capsule's re-entry in the earth's atmosphere was somewhat steeper than planned, it was a "very rigorous re-entry, experiencing high heat loads and high rates of deceleration," and would produce a great deal of useful information.

Furthermore, Gilruth said, it turned out to be an excellent test of the recovery operation because the capsule landed several hundred miles from the planned point of impact and far from most of the recovery facilities.

The capsule, a cone 6 feet wide at its base and 9½ feet long, tapering to a 20-inch diameter at the nose, was launched by a big Joe Atlas rocket at 2:19 a.m. EST.

It was a perfect launching. The Big Joe was modified to lift the capsule to about 100 miles, then tilt over and send the simulated space ship on a 2,000 mile flattened course through the earth's atmosphere to a landing near Antigua.

The purpose of the flight was to study the friction heating and deceleration forces a space pilot will encounter when his capsule plows back into the atmosphere.

The 85-foot, 250,000-pound Atlas has two booster engines, each with 150,000 pounds thrust, and a main sustainer engine of 60,000 pounds thrust.

In normal liftoff the boosters drop away after firing, and the sustainer vastly accelerates the rocket as soon as the dead booster weight is shedded.

In Wednesday's firing, for the first time in any Atlas launching, the 10-foot long skirt section containing the booster engines failed to separate and fall away.

NASA said the sustainer separated properly and sent the capsule straight on its course down the Atlantic missile test range.

But because it had carried the spent boosters through the final launching phase where every ounce of weight is significant, the rocket failed to reach its assigned goal.

Motherwell Fights Extradition, Would Return Voluntarily

ATLANTA (AP)—Attorneys for Larry Lord Motherwell said Wednesday he would return voluntarily to California if permitted to do so, but they stoutly resisted efforts to extradite him on charges of murdering a wealthy widow.

At an extradition hearing before Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry Neal, the attorneys, John T. Reges and Simon Tucker of Washington, D.C. attacked legality of California papers charging the 43-year-old carpenter with the murder of Mrs. Pearl Ida Putney, 72, whose bones were found in Sierra County, Calif., last Aug. 16.

However, questions by Neal, legal aide to Gov. Ernest Vandiver, indicated that he believes the extradition documents are in order. Neal will study the case and then submit it to the governor for a decision.

Reges insisted the extradition papers were faulty because the affidavit of Sheriff W. Dewey Johnson of Sierra County did not allege that Motherwell was in California at the time of commission of the crime — the slaying of Mrs. Putney.

The attorneys first refused to let Motherwell answer questions about his presence in California on the ground of self incrimination. But finally after continued insistence by Neal that the hearing was an administrative matter held at Motherwell's request, Reges turned to Motherwell and asked:

"Were you in California on Aug. 15, 1958?" — the last time Mrs. Putney was seen alive.

Motherwell, who had been grimly following the legal sparring, replied in a low voice, "Yes, sir, I was."

Kenneth Horton, special agent for the California Dept. of Justice, said Motherwell told him he registered in a Marysville, Calif., motel with Mrs. Putney on Aug. 14, 1958 and left on Aug. 15 by the Feather River Route, which passes through Sierra County.

Racket Probe Windup Urged By McClellan

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Rackets Committee Wednesday tentatively rang down the curtain on its sensational three-year investigation of labor - management corruption.

McClellan delivered what sounded like the committee's "swan song" in the face of Republican demands that the group continue and expand the GOP-led investigation of the UAW, which has touched off a bitter wrangle between Republican and Democratic committee members.

Sens. Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb.) and Karl E. Mundt (R-S. D.) said the case of GOP members had presented was only preliminary and showed the need for a "thoroughgoing" study of the big auto workers union led by Walter Reuther.

Kennedy called the hearing a "monumental misuse of time." He charged that the Republicans had used the committee to "carry on political warfare" and to "indict a union whose political philosophy differed from theirs."

McClellan commented tartly that he was not "overwhelmingly impressed with the veracity of either side" during the hearing and would as soon drop the whole thing. He said the committee should now proceed to wind up its affairs and issue it final reports.

ing of the U.N. General Assembly session in New York, when India again will take the floor to plead for Chinese Communist membership in the world organization.

The Chinese Communist Premier was answering a March 22 letter from Nehru. He claimed the reason he waited so long was that he had been "somewhat surprised" to find basic differences on boundaries between New Delhi and Peiping.

Chou wrote Nehru that the Indians, and not the Chinese, crossed the MacMahon Line. He also pointed out that China does not recognize this boundary line drawn up before World War I.

Lollipop Thief

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Police say that among the loot in two break-ins charged to a Navy wife were 82 lollipops and 12 headache powders. Mrs. Katherine V. Christian, 29, mother of two, was found early Wednesday in a restaurant, from which $52.60 was missing. The goodies and headache powders, it is charged, were taken from a service station a block away.

Desperado Put On Most Wanted List

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The FBI Wednesday put a 41 - year - old drunk who was once just a small time automobile thief on its list of 10 most wanted fugitives.

He is Robert Garfield Brown Jr., who has been wanted since July 9 for the vicious robbery of a vacationing Canadian couple on a beach at Old Orchard, Maine. During the robbery, the husband was shot without provocation.

The FBI said that Brown's accomplice in the crime was captured and that he named Brown as the trigger-man. It said the victim was left paralyzed by the shooting.

Brown's criminal career began in 1947. Born Jan. 12, 1918, at Brookline, Mass., he served time in the New Hampshire State Prison for breaking and entering, larceny and parole breaking, and in the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., for car theft and burglary in Washington, D.C.

The FBI describes Brown as "trigger happy" and a sharp-shooting marksman who, according to friends, once shot the heads off two chickens with two bullets at a distance of 50 feet.

Burglars Steal Truck Loaded With Shrimp

BALTIMORE (AP)—Agile burglars climbed to the roof of a fish company warehouse Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning, loaded a truck with shrimp from a refrigerator and drove it away.

The truck, with "Seaboard Fish Co." painted on its side, was valued at $3,500 and the shrimp at $3,600 by the firm's owner, William F. Hilgenberg, who also is state banking commissioner.

Police said the theft was discovered when employes arrived at work about 7 a.m. Wednesday.

Republicans for: Beall and Butler, Md.

Judge Opposes Dope Law Jail Provision

BALTIMORE (AP) — Criminal Court Judge Joseph Allen Wednesday opposed the mandatory jail provision of Maryland's narcotic law.

"A judge is given discretion in much more serious crimes," Allen told a special Legislative Council committee studying drug addiction.

The law which provides a five-year sentence on a second narcotic offense and a 15-year term for a third conviction was supported by Capt. Joseph Carroll, head of the Baltimore Police Department's narcotics squad.

Carroll said the mandatory sentence was important to the enforcement picture, because both the pusher (seller) and the addict have to be "taken off the street."

The captain said "95 per cent of the pushers are addicts themselves," adding that it was "addicts who make addicts."

Kay Kendall Buried In "Actors' Corner"

Miss Kendall, wife of actor Rex Harrison, died Sunday of leukemia at the age of 32.

The group of close friends and relatives attending the service at the 18th century village church of St. John-at-Hampstead, a north London suburb, included actress Vivien Leigh.

Two Escape Serious Injury In Plane Crash

BALTIMORE (AP) — Two Baltimore men escaped serious injury Wednesday when their light plane was caught in a downdraft and crashed into a tree north of here.

The injured were identified as Leroy Davis, 35, the pilot, and Forrest Gesswein, 39, a passenger, both of Baltimore. Davis suffered a cut lip, and Gesswein a broken arm.

Davis said he had just taken off from Rutherford Field in a Stinson, single-engine plane when it hit a downdraft about 100 yards from the end of the runway.

Khrush And Stalin Compared

Editor's Note — Nikita Khrushchev learned his politics from Joseph Stalin. In this second article of a series, William L. Ryan tells of the ways in which Stalin and Khrushchev are alike and unlike.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

So says proverb-loving Nikita Sergeyevich Khrushchev, who for most of his political life has lived with the wolves of Communist intrigue.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, assessing the Soviet premier who will visit the United States next week, summed him up as one who would have made a good machine politician in any country.

The round, ebullient Communist boss learned his politics from an old master of intrigue and betrayal, Joseph Stalin. But striking differences in method make it plain Khrushchev can hardly hope to achieve the totality of power which Stalin wielded.

Khrushchev is as noisy as Stalin was taciturn. He is as accessible as Stalin was hidden and mysterious. He is as eager for outside contacts as Stalin was suspicious of them.

Stalin was a Bolshevik plotter long before the Russian revolution. Khrushchev was a Johnny-come-lately who joined the Bolshevik wing of the Communist party only at the outset of civil war, when he already was 24. Stalin was an educated man. Khrushchev first saw the inside of a school at 27.

"The policy of chopping off heads does no good," said Stalin, who then went ahead and chopped off the heads of his enemies. Khrushchev, since his arrival at the peak of power, has not done that. There seems little prospect he will be able to do it.

Unlike Stalin, Khrushchev lacked a vast secret police machine. The army of secret police had been purged severely after the post-Stalin collective leadership moved in on police chief Lavrenty Beria and had him executed.

Stalin used terror as an instrument of his policies. Khrushchev went along with terror only long enough to destroy Beria and his powerful police machine. Thereafter he eased away from it, in violation of the principle expounded by Bolshevism's founder, V. I. Lenin, that terror must be an instrument of state power.

Some Khrushchev methods echo Stalin. He places the same overriding emphasis on production by heavy industry to build state and world power, to the detriment of the consumer economy. Like Stalin, Khrushchev is beginning to take credit for every success, real or debatable, that the Soviet system enjoys.

But the differences between the two seem far more important than the similarities.

Khrushchev came to power as the head of an educated people, far removed from the frightened, easily regimented masses over whom Stalin first established his vast and terrible authority.

Stalin ruled a revolutionary party of fanatics who surged to power on a wave of violent revolution. Today's party no longer is revolutionary. The word is anathema when applied to the Soviet Union. Revolution is a process the Soviet Communists reserve for the non-Communist world.

To this party and a nation with a growing middle class which defies the predictions of doctrinaire Marxism - Leninism, Khrushchev has had to make promises. Many men and women now make good incomes. Their money won't buy the consumer goods they want. The goods are not there.

Khrushchev, while continuing to stress the all-out priority of heavy industry, has had to make the promises. They will have, he has told them, the world's highest living standard—some day.

"But," said Khrushchev recently in a word of warning, "when we speak of satisfying the demands of the people, we do not mean capricious demands and pretensions to luxury, but the healthy needs of a civilized man."

Pretensions to luxury are for the Communists in the upper reaches. And for them—and Khrushchev—it can be dangerous for today's Soviet citizen to dream too much.

Refund Claim Made Too Late

BALTIMORE (AP) — A former Washington businessman has lost his claim for a refund of income taxes because he made the claim too late.

The businessman, Alfred B. Stewart, brought suit to recover $11,375 in taxes he said he overpaid in 1943-47 on taxes deducted from his employes' wages. Stewart now lives in Florida.

Judge Roszel C. Thomsen of U.S. District Court, ruling in favor of the government by dismissing the case, said:

"I'm sorry to see somebody who has a claim lose out because of failure to take action in time, but I don't see that I have any power."

Stewart said, through his attorney, that the taxes were paid in December of 1949 as a result of an audit made by the Treasury Department. The government said he should have filed for refund within two years.

Nikirk Arraignment Set September 18

BALTIMORE (AP)—Edward Nikirk, state's attorney for Frederick County, will be arraigned on a Federal income tax charge on Sept. 18, the U.S. attorney's office said Wednesday.

Nikirk, free in $1,000 bail, is accused in a three-count indictment of failing to report proper income for the years 1952, 1953 and 1954.

The indictment says he reported income of $8,034 for 1952 when he should have reported $19,519; $7,318 for 1953 when it should have been $20,168, and $5,492 in 1954 when he should have reported $16,456.

The arraignment is scheduled before U.S. District Judge R. Dorsey Watkins.

Condition Improves

ROME (UPI)—Doctors Wednesday reported the condition of Federico Cardinal Tedeschini as "improved somewhat." The 85-year-old cardinal was operated on for an intestinal ailment last week.

Big Tanker Launched At Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — The S.S. Gulfsolar, 29,250-ton tanker under contract to the Gulf Oil Corp., was launched Wednesday at the Bethlehem-Sparrows Point Shipyard.

The 645-foot ship is the third of six vessels being built here for Gulf during a two-year fleet expansion program. The S.S. Gulfcrest and the S.S. Gulfpride were launched in April and June.

New Howard County Courthouse Planned

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. (AP) — The Howard County Planning Commission has proposed the erection of a new courthouse and county office building on a 50-acre tract southwest of Ellicott City.

The two buildings would form the hub of a governmental, cultural and business complex in the area where the county's heaviest residential growth is forecast.

Under the plan, now before the county commissioners, the present courthouse would be turned into a museum and historical society. Other buildings now occupied by the county government would revert to residential use.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I felt terribly sorry for the woman who wrote that she was bored and lonesome because her husband travels. I have tried all your suggestions. Would you be interested in the results?

1. Join a club. I did. It disbanded until October 1. Everyone is away for the summer.

2. Have a baby. I can't. Adoption agencies are working on it but they're slow.

3. Get a hobby. I have gobs of 'em. I sew, knit, paint, do ceramics, have a rock collection —nothing is fun alone.

4. Take a study course. I've studied Voltaire, Tolstoy, Darwin, Mark, Plato and Freud. Now what?

5. Go to church. I do — every Sunday for two hours. Then I go home — alone.

6. Make friends. I have zillions, but they all have husbands and I have no desire to be a fifth wheel.

I've even tried things you didn't mention. I have two cats, a hi-fi, I've re-done my house, written letters to everyone I know, cleaned the closets, recovered my shelves, re-arranged my dresser drawers, hemmed the dish towels, bleached my hair, manicured my nails, sorted the laundry, taken a sunbath and baked a lemon pie.

Now tell me, Ann Landers, am I beyond hope? If you suggest a head-doctor I'll tell you frankly I've been thinking about it. — LOOSE ENDS

DEAR LOOSE: Try writing. With your flair for words you'd be great.

DEAR ANN: Our marriage lasted six weeks. We parted company to think things through. After seven months we decided we had made a terrible mistake and we're now in the process of being divorced.

What is the proper procedure concerning the wedding gifts? The in-laws are virtually strangers to me. Shall I return everything that came from his family and friends? — P. Z.

DEAR P. Z.: The gifts belong to you. Wedding gifts should be returned only if there is no wedding.

DEAR ANN: My parents have been married 21 years and everything was all right until two years ago. My father got involved in some "get-rich-quick" schemes and he lost quite a lot of money in bad investments.

My mother began to nag at him so he started to stay out all night. She said so long as he was never home she wasn't about to sit around and twiddle her thumbs. So she started to go out, too. If something isn't done I'm afraid there's going to be a divorce.

I'll be 18 soon and I'm old enough to take care of myself. But my younger sister is only 12 and I'm worried about her. Can you help me? — AWAKE NIGHTS

DEAR AWAKE: Somewhere along the line your parents stopped communicating with each other. Instead of working out their problems they made excuses. Mother began to run around because Father was running. Father started to run because Mother nagged him. Mother nagged him because he made bad investments.

Ask them to visit a clergyman together. They owe it to you and your sister to make an honest attempt to save their marriage. Good luck.

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Water To Flush Potomac River Here Not Available, Says Commission Head

The chairman of the Upper Potomac River Commission said yesterday that under present conditions "It is impossible to release additional water from the Savage River Dam" to flush the river here and erase an odor condition.

John J. McMullen of this city said Savage River and Stoney River dams are currently supplying approximately 75 per cent of the Potomac River flow because of a dry spell.

Amount of water currently stored in the Savage River Dam is lower than the seasonal curve, McMullen added.

Savage River Dam was designed to supply a minimum flow of 60,000,000 gallons a day at Luke. The flow at Luke now is 63,000,000 gallons, 44 million of which are coming from Savage River Dam, it was pointed out. When weather conditions are good and precipitation normal, the flow could be kept at 100,000,000 gallons a day or better, McMullen said.

At the present rate of release from Savage River Dam, McMullen predicted there is sufficient water to carry the current flow for several months. Because of weather conditions and other factors, this is difficult to predict, however, he added.

The dam was designed to release enough water for approximately 100 days. Rains which fall from time to time supplement the supply and could stretch the number of days on which sufficient water can be released.

"Under current conditions, there is no extra amount of water for release to be used for the purpose which Cumberland has requested and no real relief would be afforded by such release because of economic and other reasons which exist along river," McMullen asserted.

At Luke, the average flow was 70,000,000 gallons a day during the past month. A flow of 60,000,000 gallons must be maintained. Of the average flow in the last month, Savage River Dam supplied 39,000,000 gallons.

In July, the average flow at Luke was 74,000,000 of which 34,000,000 was supplied by the Dam; and in June the Luke average flow was 178,000,000 gallons of which 32,000,000 were supplied by the dam.

The current dry spell began about mid-June. Prior to that time, the flow had reached as much as 300,000,000 to 500,000,000 gallons.

In view of these facts, McMullen said there is no surplus water to be released without running the risk of a depletion later.

Odor from the Potomac on the West Side was termed "abominable" by Street Commissioner John J. Long at Tuesday's meeting of the Mayor and Council. He asked that since the Savage River Dam is located above the city, couldn't the Potomac be flushed occasionally?

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum had been authorized to contact the Upper Potomac River Commission to see what steps could be taken to clear up the odor.

Holiday Free Of Fatalities

Maryland State Police in Allegany and Garrett counties, after hundreds of hours and thousands of miles patroling highways, noted that the two-county area had a fatality-free long Labor Day weekend.

Lt. W. E. O'Hara, commander of the LaVale Barracks, said there were only six personal injury accidents in which eight persons were hurt and only one of them seriously.

In addition, the long weekend only saw five mishaps in which there was property damage.

During the time from Thursday night to Monday morning, the 28 state troopers assigned to the two counties made 126 arrests, an increase of 22 over the July 4 period.

They also issued 373 warnings, the same number as for the Fourth of July.

The 28 troopers spent 1,251 hours on the roads, amassing a total of 17,615 miles.

All leaves were cancelled over the weekend as all officers, from troopers to sergeants, took to the highways.

Piedmont Council Orders Study For Sewage Rates

PIEDMONT—The Mayor and Council in special session Monday night authorized the Robert T. Regester engineering firm of Baltimore to prepare proposed sewage rates for the community, subject to approval by the West Virginia Public Service Commission.

Harry Brenner, representative of the engineering firm which made the preliminary survey for necessary facilities to connect with the sewage plant being built at the lower end of Westernport, stated the cost of preparing the proposed rates should not exceed $500.

At present, Piedmont does not make a sewer charge, and basis of charges for the proposed rates would be cost plus 50 per cent, Council spokesmen said.

The town has made application for a $30,000 grant from the federal government and hopes to receive the money during the 1960-61 program of the federal agency.

A representative of the Walter, Woody and Heimerdinger Bonding Company of Cincinnati, the agent for the town in selling the proposed bond issue, said it will b necessary to sell about $150,000 in bonds to receive $120,000 needed in operating capital. The bonds will be issued in $1,000 denominations.

The sewage plant is being built by the Upper Potomac River Commission for the principal use of the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company. Piedmont, Westernport and Luke have been offered the opportunity to connect into the plant, and the towns have indicated they propose to do so.

A contract has not yet been signed by the town and the commission, and it was ordered that Owen Hitchins be contacted so that an agreement can be signed up between the interested parties.

W.Va. School Board Okays 15 Per Cent Budget Jump

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The West Virginia Board of Education Wednesday approved an overall 15 per cent increase in its budget for the 1960-61 fiscal year. It also approved a 15 per cent budget increase for the State Department of Education.

The board also approved preliminary plans and a cost estimate for construction of an upholstery shop at the state rehabilitation center at Institute. The estimated cost of the project is $140,000.

The board delayed action on a request by the Council of College Presidents for additional money for faculty salary raises for 1960-61.

In other action closing a two-day meeting, the board said it was all right for colleges to allow youth political organizations to be formed on the campus. But it emphasized the president and faculty members should keep an eye on these activities.

Concord College's new president Joseph F. Marsh Jr. raised the question as to how the board felt about Young Democrat or Young Republican clubs being organized at a college.

The board said such groups should not be allowed to hold individual rallies or otherwise allow their political activity to get out of hand. It said it was permissible for forums or debates to be held with each political youth organization participating.

The board's next meeting is Oct. 26-27.

Opening lead: Queen of ♥.

Declarer in today's hand was presented with a very skinny dummy, so that he was forced to produce a form of squeeze and end play in order to land his three no trump contract.

West opened the queen of hearts which was ducked all the way around as declarer permitted the lead to hold. West continued with the jack which went to dummy's king. The ten of diamonds was led and East covered with the king. This is the correct play, since it preserves West's entry if he happens to hold the ace of diamonds and loses nothing if declarer has the ace. South won and played the jack of diamonds, but West with an eye to shutting out the rest of dummy's diamonds refused to take the queen.

At this point, declarer decided to abandon the diamond suit. Dummy's queen of spades would prove to be an entry only if West held the king of spades, but if declarer persisted with the establishment of the diamonds the defenders would surely build up enough tricks to sink the contract, what with the established hearts, the diamond, and the eventual king of spades.

Declarer shifted his attack by leading a low spade. West took the king, then knocked out South's second stopper in hearts. Declarer then led a spade to the queen and a spade back to his ace. On this trick West had to make an embarrassing discard. He must either unguard the club queen, or the diamond queen, or discard one of his good hearts. He chose to release a heart whereupon declarer threw him in with a diamond. He could cash one heart which was his fourth trick, but then had to lead from his queen of clubs. On the low lead the jack was put up and, when it held, declarer took the last three tricks.

TODAY...10 P.M. THE NEW-SIZE FORD STARTS ON ITS WAY TO YOU!

The Falcon, the New-Size Ford, already is the most thoroughly tested and proven new car in history. Today this new Ford Falcon starts EXPERIENCE RUN, U.S.A., over every mile of numbered U.S. highway

This is not a test run in the ordinary sense of the word. For in its 3 years of development and over 3 million miles of proving, the New-size Ford, the Falcon has already passed and repassed every kind of test that could be devised.

It's been dust-tested, heat-tested, and endurance-tested on the test track at Kingman, Arizona. Wind-tested and rain-tested in the 300 mph wind tunnel at the University of Maryland. Shock-tested, curve-tested, brake-tested, noise-tested, paint-tested, stability-tested, service-tested . . . everything-tested on Ford's own proving grounds. The Falcon has already proved to engineers that it can take anything they can dish out.

Now, all that remains is to show you what the Falcon can do over your kind of roads. And Experience Run, U.S.A. will do just that.

Now being demonstrated in your kind of driving. To prove that an economy car can be built with enough size, stability and weight to compete safely in the heaviest flow of traffic . . . a great white fleet of Falcons has fanned out across the country to drive over every last mile of numbered U.S. Federal Highway, including the very highways you drive in your own locality.

How many miles to the gallon? Records will be kept of every drop of gas used. Better gas mileage, you ask? The Falcon will average up to 30 miles per gallon! Experience Run, U.S.A., will also convincingly demonstrate the Falcon's sports car handling and agility, plus its big-car ride and comfort. And America will learn how easily the Falcon can carry six big adults plus all their baggage.

On October 8, the New-size Ford will be at your Ford Dealer's . . . for you to experience. See your Ford Dealer today for more information on the Falcon.

Some Unsolved School Problems

With the opening of the 1959-60 school term, the U. S. Office of Education has released statistics showing an even poorer educational situation in public schools and colleges than last year. This is a reminder that the problems of education are not abating but are being compounded at a faster rate each year.

Each of the last 15 years has witnessed a sizable increase in enrollment—a 50 per cent increase in the last 10 years—and the school age population shows no signs of slowing its expansion in the immediate future. But expanding population is but one of three factors joining forces to create educators' headaches.

A larger percentage of the school population between the ages of five and 17 is availing itself of the advantages of education than ever before. Ninety per cent of the current generation of young people is in school, compared to 82 per cent 10 years ago.

Another factor working against those who are trying to alleviate crowded classrooms is the rapid turnover in teachers. Previously, the turnover rate was believed to be 7.5 per cent, but the Office of Education has found it to be nearly 11 per cent. This is the scoreboard for education 1960:

Shortage of classrooms, 130,000.

Shortage of teachers, 195,000.

Almost 2 million more pupils enrolled this year than last.

No solution to any of these problems is in sight.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Too Short For Truth

It is possible to compress paragraphs into aphoristic sentences, short, tight, glib and inexact. Charles Broad of Phoenix, Arizona, writes me that I had taken several hundred words to expound what he could say in one short sentence. His sentence follows:

"Education never can take the place of intelligence, but intelligence can oftentimes prove to be superior to education."

What Broad says is quite true, but it is not the whole truth. An astrophysicist can be aided by intelligence but without the accumulation of disciplined knowledge, his intelligence can only help him to guess. A geologist may have a brilliant mind that will help him to amass a fortune, but without expert knowledge of the structure and composition of the Earth, he will make guesses, some of which may work out. The amount of education—knowledge of physics, chemistry, dynamics, and other scientific disciplines—that goes into the making of a rocket cannot be picked up by using one's intelligence, although that is how Benjamin Franklin, the most authentic genius produced on this continent, did do.

There are very few Franklins in the world and it is doubtful whether the brillance of intellect of Franklin or the wonderful mind of Leonardo da Vinci could build the "Nautilus." That required special, disciplined work at a university in the field of physics and mathematics, with additional knowledge of the function of the atom and how it responds under certain extraordinary conditions.

One of the reasons that the intellectual is not respected in the United States as he is in Europe or Asia is because in this country so much has, in the past, been achieved by businessmen who applied common sense to comparatively simple problems. Henry Ford, for instance, picked up the concept of the continuous movement of a product from one worker to another on a transmission belt from a slaughter house in Chicago. He used his intelligence, applied it to the manufacture of automobiles, developed a method of production known as mass production and in Soviet nomenclature known as "rationalization of industry."

This is the application of intelligence by an unschooled man to an important problem, but Henry Ford, had he attempted to develop penicillin or the application of radium to a cancerous growth, would have had to know much more than he did.

Of course, the answer can be that no producer of penicillin ever made as much money as Ford did, but that is begging the question. To make a modern drug, it is necessary to know a great many scientific facts, including the whole range of molecular chemistry.

The other day, a young lady came to see me with her father. He could not understand what his young lady was doing at college except that it cost him more than he figured. His young lady was majoring in Chemistry and was at the stage at which mathematics consumes most attention. By mathematics her father understands arithmetic. That he can do very well. He can add, subtract and put the difference in his bank account.

But his daughter's mathematics he cannot understand at all. "They don't even deal in numbers," he said to me. "They have X's and Y's and Greek letters and what can you do with it? How do you apply it?"

So I tried to explain to him the important role of this peculiar kind of mathematics in modern science and how valuable his daughter might be if she is any good. So we got to talking about "common sense," which proves beyond doubt that two plus two is four and you make a profit. But suppose a farmer applies common sense and his cows eat a certain kind of grass and their udders bleed until they die. What good is common sense? So it gave me a chance to tell the wonderful story of heparin, dicumerol and coumadin which have saved the lives of so many people by thinning the blood.

And it all came about because some cows ate certain grass which thinned their blood until they bled to death. Intelligence is valuable to identify this phenomenon when it is seen, but the man to identify anything had to possess an enormous knowledge of chemistry and bio-chemistry.

Knowledge of this kind is most advantageously obtained in universities in an orderly disciplined fashion under the tutelage of highly-trained men and women. Intelligence is good but not good enough.

Southeast Asia's Future Hinges On Samneua

By Joseph Alsop

SAMNEUA, Laos.

Quite suddenly the future of Southeast Asia (for that is the real stake in the game in Laos) has come to hinge on this place. What, then, is this Samneua where the tragedy of Dien Bien Phu threatens to be reenacted on a smaller scale, but with even more far reaching results?

To this reporter, on his second visit to the front here, Samneua is many different things at once. It is, to begin with, a landscape of the strangest beauty, unlike any in the world except in Southeast Asia.

The place lies in a short and narrow valley, wholly surrounded by steep mountains and craggy hills. In this season of the rains, the river rushes through the valley all brown and turbid. The rice fields are bright emerald. The great forest trees mingled with the plumes of giant bamboos on the mountain slopes show a hundred other greens. Even the landscape is important, for Samneua lives by its air strip; and a mountain almost literally rises from each end of the runway, the fantastic approach to Samneua is impossible for anything bigger than a C47.

Then, besides landscape, Samneua is people. A prince of Samneua once had his petty court here; but the prince's ex-capital is no bigger than a large village. The mud and thatch built houses begin by the plank bridge over the rushing river and straggle along a dusty road for half a mile or so. Below the bridge, the children swim naked. Above the bridge is the bathing place of the adults. There are always pale copper-bronze bodies making painters patterns in the tobacco colored water.

The bathers, the people in the little shops, the women in the market place who will sell you leaf-wrapped packets of mountain opium, are all oddly calm and cheerful, considering that the nearest enemy forces are only five miles from the village. You see no smiles among the refugees from the surrounding region now held by the Communist invaders from North Viet Nam. There are many hundreds of them now—whole home defense companies with their weapons, entire families from the frontier villages, women and children who have come in alone, leaving the men to fight as Maquis in the jungles. Yet among the refugees there is no sign of the glum hopelessness of refugees in other parts of the world.

The people are also important, if only because anyone who talks to many of the refugees cannot possibly retain any of the comforting doubts expressed at home about the reality and massiveness of the invasion from North Viet Nam. It is easy to say that "the aggression is not proven," when you are fiv. thousand miles from the scene. But talk to a few dozen of these simple, brave, uncomplaining men and women who have been driven from their homes by the Communist invaders. Then the aggression will seem very real to you indeed.

Then, besides people, Samneua is history. For more than two millenia this part of Southeast Asia has been the haven for successive migrations pushed out of China by the remorseless expansion of the Chinese. The last comers have always driven their predecessors further up the mountains. The result is a sort of human layer cake, with the richest layer at the bottom.

Thus the Laos, like the Thais of Thailand, were first pushed by the Chinese out of what is now Central China, and then, another millenium later, were pushed out of South China. They were the last comers here; and so the Laos hold the rice lands. The Meos, the Black Thais and other such-like people live at the mid-level of the hills. And the poor, primitive Khas, the indigenous race, eke out their pitiful living on the peaks and crests.

Symbolically at least, this history is important too. For Samneua is now in deadly danger from a Communist invasion, solely because the age-old process of Chinese expansion has begun again with a new explosive force.

Finally, besides history, Samneua is also the main base and stronghold of the Lao army's resistance to the Communist invaders—which was, of course, why this reporter came to Samneua at all. But as a military base, it must be admitted, Samneua is not dramatically impressive.

At first, indeed, except for the troops and supplies being landed on the airstrip, you see no sign that the place has any military meaning. The Lao army, having almost no communications, does almost no paper work, and the entire staff of the Regional Commander, General Amkha, fits comfortably into a screened veranda at his house on a hill above the village. Besides the refugee home guards, there are almost no soldiers in the village streets.

But look at the crests of the encircling hills and mountains. Here and there, you will notice a crest which has been stripped of jungle growth, so that you can just see the outline of a tent or two. Here are the nearer outposts. As for the rest of Samneua's seven defending battalions, you must make a jungle march to reach them. But the enemy, never seen in this war unless he is upon you, is nonethe-less so near Samneua that the jungle march is now very short.

Such is Samneua, a pleasant, infinitely remote, once peaceful little place that is suddenly being humbled and will perhaps soon be crushed by the jaws of great events. It is hard to believe that the fate of Southeast Asia may hang upon Samneua's fate. Yet it may; really may.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

"MOUSEDONIA"—Although indirect, a good word has been spoken for the new Senate office building. The brave words have been spoken by Senator Hugh Scott, Pennsylvania Republican, whose offices are in the old building.

He put it this way: "In this building we are unhampered by luxury, new carpets, doors for newly cut partitions in the walls or other attributes of gracious living.

"We are at war with the world of small animals. Along the basement corridors, even in the height of the tourist season, mice outnumber constituents. The feminine members of my staff report that mice are so numerous as to cause considerable distress of mind. In fact this may lead to a female boycott of the basement floor except when absolutely necessary."

There is serious consideration of issuing an appeal to the housekeeping committee of the Senate to "come over to Mousedonia and help us."

How Does Virus Fit Into The Cancer Picture?

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

No one knows the cause of cancer of the large intestine but the possibility that virus is responsible crops up from time to time. We know for certain that polyps of the colon and ulcerative colitis are forerunners of malignancy in many cases. A recent discovery may answer the question as to how the virus fits into the picture.

Dr. Cecilie Leuchtenberger noted peculiar round bodies in polyp cells of the rectum and colon. The particles contain desoxyribose nucleic acid (DNA). They were not present in the normal cells of the intestinal wall or in the polyps that developed elsewhere in the body. Nasal polyps, for example, never became cancerous. In this respect they differ from those in the bowel.

Dr. Ferdinand C. Helwig of Kansas City continued these studies and found identical round nuclei in the intestinal wall of 56 per cent of persons with long standing chronic ulcerative colitis. This fits into the jigsaw puzzle because the incidence of cancer of the colon is higher in victims of chronic ulcerative colitis, especially if the condition has lasted 10 or more years.

Cancer occurs 30 to 100 times more often in this group than in those who do not have the disease. Irritation from colitis encourages the development of polyps which, in many instances, become cancerous.

Dr. Leuchtenberger noted these bodies in more than 600 cases of benign and malignant polyps in the rectum. Preliminary studies under the electron microscope indicate that viruses are in these bodies. This suggests but does not prove that viruses are responsible for colon cancer. This information adds nothing to our attack on cancer at present, except to remind us that polyps in this area are potentially dangerous and should be removed. Perhaps the viruses get into the colon during an ordinary cold, intestinal flu, as other innocent disease.

CHOLESTEROL

D. J. writes: Do cocktails make a high blood cholesterol higher?

REPLY

There is no cholesterol or fat in cocktails except perhaps a trace in the olive. To my knowledge, no resaerch has been done on the effect of alcohol on the blood cholesterol level.

FLABBY AFTER REDUCING

Mrs. G. writes: Since taking off weight the skin on my arms and legs is flabby. Will massaging with alcohol do any good?

REPLY

Massage may help a bit but it will take time for the skin to regain its tone. Exercise may be of some value. Plastic surgery will be needed to get rid of large aprons of skin.

SWITCHING TO PILLS

E. P. writes: Would a diabetic who has been using insulin by injection have to go to the hospital if he switched to pills? Or could the changeover be made safely at home or in the doctor's office?

REPLY

This depends upon the severity of the disease. Many diabetics have been switched to tablets in the home or the office. But it is easier and safer to do so in the hospital where a more careful study of blood sugar levels and the urine can be made.

WAX SHORTAGE

T. W. writes: What causes dry ears?

REPLY

SHAVING AT 13

Mrs. R. writes: Is age 13 too young for a girl to start shaving underarm hair?

REPLY

No.

MENOPAUSE

R. L. writes: How many women lose their minds during the menopause?

REPLY

Not many. Those who do were emotionally unstable long before the menopause. In this respect, the mental break and the change are coincidental.

EYE HEADACHE

R. M. writes: In headache due to eyestrain what part of the head hurts?

REPLY

Behind and above the eyes.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A Texas industrialist had to visit our big new state, Alaska, but he was on the defensive every moment that he was there—and conceded nothing. Out in one of his customer's small boats, the Texan spotted an iceberg near the horizon and smiled for the first time in days. "I'll grant you one thing," he told his host. "Your ice cubes are bigger than ours."

"I know they're hanging up new baseball records every season," admits Lefty Gomez, one-time pitching great of the New York Yankees, "but they don't seem able to break my record for the longest home run ever hit in the stadium. Jimmie Foxx hit it, off me!"

"Am I the first girl you ever kissed?" she whispered softly in the back porch swing. "That's quite possible," admitted her legal light escort. "Were you in Atlantic City in 1947?

Recreating Mutual Trust Will Be Eisenhower-Khrushchev Problem

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Georgi Zaroubin, former Russian Ambassador to the United States, used to remind his staff that Soviet officers were once given a special section in the Pentagon in Washington, guarded by their own Red Army troops, from which they could send their own coded messages to Moscow without monitoring or other interference by the United States.

Ambassador Zaroubin, who was more friendly to the United States than most people realized, cited this as an illustration of how closely the USA and USSR had worked together during the war, and how mutual trust prevailed at that time.

For there is no trust between Russia and the United States today. The propaganda machines of both countries have been pounding away at each other so hard and for so long that there is profound distrust, plus fear that commitments, if made, will be broken. And if we are to begin a period of peaceful competition, or co-existence, as Khrushchev indicated in his recent "Foreign Affairs" article, there has got to be trust in each nation's commitments. This is the only alternative to war. It's important to remember, however, that trust did prevail during the war, and has been attested to by such hard-boiled statesmen as Winston Churchill and Adm. William D. Leahy, who sat in on the Teheran, Yalta and Potsdam conferences.

Russia Kept Its Word

"Fears expressed by many," Leahy wrote in his memoirs, "that Russia would make a separate peace with Germany, particularly when we were unable to mount a second front in 1943, have proved unfounded. Russia had kept every military agreement made before then."

But as the war neared its final stages, suspicion began to creep in. Significantly it was generated by exactly the same problem which caused deadlock at the recent Geneva conference, deadlock at the summit conference of 1955 and has disrupted American-Russian relations for 15 years—the future of Germany.

The Soviet leaders were deathly afraid that a new and powerful Germany might rise again, and that we would help build it.

Because this basic problem of Germany will be the main subject of conversation between Eisenhower and Khrushchev, it's important to go back and examine history.

The first flare-up of distrust between the USSR and its allies occurred in March 1945, just two months before Hitler surrendered. Allen Dulles, brother of the late John Foster Dulles, and the "U. S. master spy" in Switzerland, had picked up intimations that German Gen. Karl Wolff, ranking SS officer in Italy, wanted to arrange for the surrender of German forces in Northern Italy.

Playing it straight with our Russian allies, the State Department informed Moscow of this move on March 11. But when Foreign Minister Molotov wanted three Soviet officers present at any talks to be held with the Germans, Gen. John R. Deane, U. S. military attache in Moscow, opposed. His recommendation was accepted by Washington, and a meeting was held with General Wolff on March 19 at Locarno, Switzerland, with two Allied officers present, but no Russians.

Stalin Gets Savage

"During the last two weeks," accused Molotov on March 23, "behind the back of the Soviet government, which has been carrying on the main burden of the war against Germany, representatives of the American and British command and representatives of the Germany military command are carrying on negotiations. The government of the USSR considers this absolutely inadmissible."

Stalin in an even harsher note to Roosevelt claimed that the talks had permitted the Nazis to transfer three divisions from Italy to the Eastern Front, thus saving British-American lives at the expense of Russian lives.

"As a result of these separate negotiations in Berne," Stalin wrote Roosevelt in a second note, "the Anglo-American troops get the possibility to advance into the heart of Germany almost without resistance. . . . At the same time, the Germans continue the war with Russia, the ally of England and the United States."

"The Anglo-Americans have promised in return to ease for the Germans the peace terms," Stalin charged.

Roosevelt's Death

His death helped restore some degree of unity among the three chief allies, but only temporarily. Suspicion continued and grew more bitter.

It is impossible at this point in history to ascertain which side was most to blame. Historians will probably debate this for years to come. To this observer, who closely followed this difficult period, there was considerable fault on both sides. Stalin and the Russians, suspicious by nature, knew that before the war, the Cliveden set in London, with many followers in the United States, had done its best to foment war between Germany and Russia.

At the same time, Harry Truman, who in his memoirs frankly admitted his own inadequacy in coping with the crisis following FDR's death, also suffered from an inferiority complex. He too was suspicious.

So suspicion and distrust on both sides was compounded, with the question of a powerful and possibly belligerent Germany the basic cause of that suspicion.

How the distrust grew and the means by which Eisenhower and Khrushchev may remove it will be the subject of future columns.

Holding The Line

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK—Contrary to the "dope," the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, for the moment at least, is holding the line on its discount rate. This is the charge to member banks borrowing at the Federal Reserve.

No change in the present 3½ per cent rate was announced after the market's close Sept. 3—the normal time for such announcements.

Expectations had been that the discount rate would be raised to 4 per cent. The 3½ per cent rate was established three months ago. That was the fifth increase from the 1¾ rate set in April of 1958.

There is strong opinion that, regardless of the increase by commercial banks in their prime money rates from 4½ to 5 per cent, the Federal Reserve should go slow in following the crowd.

This opinion is that the Reserve should wait until the picture as to Fall and early Winter is clearer. If the steel strike continues through Oct. 1, it can slow down the business boom. If that should happen, money would become easier.

Also if this should develop—a slowdown in business—and if the Reserve were to raise the discount rate now, the Federal Reserve might have to backtrack very fast, as it did after mistakenly raising money rates too rapidly and too far in 1957.

In August of '57, the Federal Reserve in the face of a declining stock market and business, jacked the discount rate to 3½ per cent—the seventh straight increase, starting in April of '55 from 1½ per cent.

The situation today is not strictly comparable to August of '57, although the stock market has been declining. Business, though, is booming in spite of the steel strike. This, as noted above, could change if the steel strike runs beyond Oct. 1. So, a wait and see policy seems the smart course for the Federal Reserve—if it has the courage.

Also, there is very little chiseling on the discount rate, even with prime money rates at 5 per cent. Chiseling is making some easy money by rediscounting 5 per cent better paper at the Federal at a cost of 3½ per cent.

The prime rate is what the commercial banks charge their top-quality customers on short term loans. This rate influences that charged for lesser quality borrowers and also mortgage rates.

The Reserve's tight money policy—which was revived a year ago—is on the assumption that it will curb the inflation. This is on the assumption—a mistaken one in this writer's opinion—that today's inflation is a credit one. It isn't.

This is a wage-price spiral and government deficit spending inflation, on which money rates have little influence. If anything, higher interest costs add to the inflation—forcing up costs of carrying the federal, state and local debts—which means more taxes.

The only way the wage-price spiral can be checked is through more efficient production. This is the main issue in the steel strike. Management is seeking to regain some of its rights to manage that have been bargained away in past wage settlements.

The big danger in the mounting costs of borrowing is the effect these charges will have on home building. The home builder can pass part of the higher interest onto Government, for mortgage interest is tax deductible at the home owner's top bracket.

W.Va. School Board Okays 15 Per Cent Budget Jump

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The West Virginia Board of Education Wednesday approved an overall 15 per cent increase in its budget for the 1960-61 fiscal year. It also approved a 15 per cent budget increase for the State Department of Education.

The board also approved preliminary plans and a cost estimate for construction of an upholstery shop at the state rehabilitation center at Institute. The estimated cost of the project is $140,000.

The board delayed action on a request by the Council of College Presidents for additional money for faculty salary raises for 1960-61.

In other action closing a two-day meeting, the board said it was all right for colleges to allow youth political organizations to be formed on the campus. But it emphasized the president and faculty members should keep an eye on these activities.

Concord College's new president Joseph F. Marsh Jr. raised the question as to how the board felt about Young Democrat or Young Republican clubs being organized at a college.

The board said such groups should not be allowed to hold individual rallies or otherwise allow their political activity to get out of hand. It said it was permissible for forums or debates to be held with each political youth organization participating.

The board's next meeting is Oct. 26-27.

W.Va. Tax Take Shows Increase

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Tax Commissioner Don Carman said Wednesday the state cigaret tax yielded $850,334 last month, an increase of 1.6 per cent over a year ago. The soft drink tax produced $374,036, 12.4 per cent more than August, 1958.

Carman said the cigaret levy brought in $1,642,585 during the first two months of this fiscal year compared to $1,640,388 last year. The pop tax receipts totaled $790,748, up 9.5 per cent.

TB Continues As National Health Threat

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—An official of the National Tuberculosis Assn. Wednesday told the annual convention of the West Virginia Tuberculosis and Health Assn. that tuberculosis is still a serious health threat in the nation.

James E. Perkins, managing director of the national group, told the group "the dip in the death rate following development and wide application of newer drugs has slackened."

He said latest statistics showed one out of every 90 persons in the U. S. was suspected as having the disease. He said the report showed 67,000 new active cases.

On Thursday the conference workers will participate in a panel discussion centering about various phases of respiratory diseases.

Holy Name Society To Attend Mass

The Holy Name Society of SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church will attend the 7 o'clock mass Sunday and receive Holy Communion in a body, according to Rev. DePaul Ripko, OFM Cap., spiritual director.

Declarer in today's hand was presented with a very skinny dummy, so that he was forced to produce a form of squeeze and end play in order to land his three no trump contract.

West opened the queen of hearts which was ducked all the way around as declarer permitted the lead to hold. West continued with the jack which went to dummy's king. The ten of diamonds was led and East covered with the king. This is the correct play, since it preserves West's entry if he happens to hold the ace of diamonds and loses nothing if declarer has the ace. South won and played the jack of diamonds, but West with an eye to shutting out the rest of dummy's diamonds refused to take the queen.

At this point, declarer decided to abandon the diamond suit. Dummy's queen of spades would prove to be an entry only if West held the king of spades, but if declarer persisted with the establishment of the diamonds the defenders would surely build up enough tricks to sink the contract, what with the established hearts, the diamond, and the eventual king of spades.

Declarer shifted his attack by leading a low spade. West took the king, then knocked out South's second stopper in hearts. Declarer then led a spade to the queen and a spade back to his ace. On this trick West had to make an embarrassing discard. He must either unguard the club queen, or the diamond queen, or discard one of his good hearts. He chose to release a heart whereupon declarer threw him in with a diamond. He could cash one heart which was his fourth trick, but then had to lead from his queen of clubs. On the low lead the jack was put up and, when it held, declarer took the last three tricks.

A FINAL DEMONSTRATION CLIMAXING FORD'S 3 YEARS AND 3 MILLION MILES OF RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT ON THE NEW FORD FALCON . . .
EXPERIENCE RUN, U.S.A.
A fleet of Falcons is going to undergo a final exhausting test . . . over every single mile of numbered U.S. Federal Highway . . . along a crisscross route that will include the ups and downs of two major mountain ranges, the vicious heat and dust of two vast deserts, the mile-high frost of the Pacific Northwest, the challenges of every type of roadway and thruway, main street and boulevard.
Hear the Experience Run Drivers Report! Tune in MONITOR! NBC Radio! Weekends!

TODAY...10 P.M. THE NEW-SIZE FORD STARTS ON ITS WAY TO YOU!
The Falcon, the New-Size Ford, already is the most thoroughly tested and proven new car in history. Today this new Ford Falcon starts EXPERIENCE RUN, U.S.A., over every mile of numbered U.S. highway
This is not a test run in the ordinary sense of the word. For in its 3 years of development and over 3 million miles of proving, the New-size Ford, the Falcon has already passed and repassed every kind of test that could be devised.
It's been dust-tested, heat-tested, and endurance-tested on the test track at Kingman, Arizona. Wind-tested and rain-tested in the 300 mph wind tunnel at the University of Maryland. Shock-tested, curve-tested, brake-tested, noise-tested, paint-tested, stability-tested, service-tested . . . everything-tested on Ford's own proving grounds. The Falcon has already proved to engineers that it can take anything they can dish out.
Now, all that remains is to show you what the Falcon can do over your kind of roads. And Experience Run, U.S.A. will do just that.
Now being demonstrated in your kind of driving. To prove that an economy car can be built with enough size, stability and weight to compete safely in the heaviest flow of traffic . . . a great white fleet of Falcons has fanned out across the country to drive over every last mile of numbered U.S. Federal Highway, including the very highways you drive in your own locality.
How many miles to the gallon? Records will be kept of every drop of gas used. Better gas mileage, you ask? The Falcon will average up to 30 miles per gallon! Experience Run, U.S.A., will also convincingly demonstrate the Falcon's sports car handling and agility, plus its big-car ride and comfort. And America will learn how easily the Falcon can carry six big adults plus all their baggage.
On October 8, the New-size Ford will be at your Ford Dealer's . . . for you to experience. See your Ford Dealer today for more information on the Falcon.

Some Unsolved School Problems

With the opening of the 1959-60 school term, the U. S. Office of Education has released statistics showing an even poorer educational situation in public schools and colleges than last year. This is a reminder that the problems of education are not abating but are being compounded at a faster rate each year.

Each of the last 15 years has witnessed a sizable increase in enrollment—a 50 per cent increase in the last 10 years—and the school age population shows no signs of slowing its expansion in the immediate future. But expanding population is but one of three factors joining forces to create educators' headaches.

A larger percentage of the school population between the ages of five and 17 is availing itself of the advantages of education than ever before. Ninety per cent of the current generation of young people is in school, compared to 82 per cent 10 years ago.

Another factor working against those who are trying to alleviate crowded classrooms is the rapid turnover in teachers. Previously, the turnover rate was believed to be 7.5 per cent, but the Office of Education has found it to be nearly 11 per cent. This is the scoreboard for education 1960:

Shortage of classrooms, 130,000.

Shortage of teachers, 195,000.

Almost 2 million more pupils enrolled this year than last.

Too Short For Truth

It is possible to compress paragraphs into aphoristic sentences, short, tight, glib and inexact. Charles Broad of Phoenix, Arizona, writes me that I had taken several hundred words to expound what he could say in one short sentence. His sentence follows:

"Education never can take the place of intelligence, but intelligence can oftentimes prove to be superior to education."

What Broad says is quite true, but it is not the whole truth. An astrophysicist can be aided by intelligence but without the accumulation of disciplined knowledge, his intelligence can only help him to guess. A geologist may have a brilliant mind that will help him to amass a fortune, but without expert knowledge of the structure and composition of the Earth, he will make guesses, some of which may work out. The amount of education—knowledge of physics, chemistry, dynamics, and other scientific disciplines—that goes into the making of a rocket cannot be picked up by using one's intelligence, although that is how Benjamin Franklin, the most authentic genius produced on this continent, did do.

There are very few Franklins in the world and it is doubtful whether the brillance of intellect of Franklin or the wonderful mind of Leonardo da Vinci could build the "Nautilus." That required special, disciplined work at a university in the field of physics and mathematics, with additional knowledge of the function of the atom and how it responds under certain extraordinary conditions.

One of the reasons that the intellectual is not respected in the United States as he is in Europe or Asia is because in this country so much has, in the past, been achieved by businessmen who applied common sense to comparatively simple problems. Henry Ford, for instance, picked up the concept of the continuous movement of a product from one worker to another on a transmission belt from a slaughter house in Chicago. He used his intelligence, applied it to the manufacture of automobiles, developed a method of production known as mass production and in Soviet nomenclature known as "rationalization of industry."

This is the application of intelligence by an unschooled man to an important problem, but Henry Ford, had he attempted to develop penicillin or the application of radium to a cancerous growth, would have had to know much more than he did.

Of course, the answer can be that no producer of penicillin ever made as much money as Ford did, but that is begging the question. To make a modern drug, it is necessary to know a great many scientific facts, including the whole range of molecular chemistry.

The other day, a young lady came to see me with her father. He could not understand what his young lady was doing at college except that it cost him more than he figured. His young lady was majoring in Chemistry and was at the stage at which mathematics consumes most attention. By mathematics her father understands arithmetic. That he can do very well. He can add, subtract and put the difference in his bank account.

But his daughter's mathematics he cannot understand at all. "They don't even deal in numbers," he said to me. "They have X's and Y's and Greek letters and what can you do with it? How do you apply it?"

So I tried to explain to him the important role of this peculiar kind of mathematics in modern science and how valuable his daughter might be if she is any good. So we got to talking about "common sense," which proves beyond doubt that two plus two is four and you make a profit. But suppose a farmer applies common sense and his cows eat a certain kind of grass and their udders bleed until they die. What good is common sense? So it gave me a chance to tell the wonderful story of heparin, dicumerol and coumadin which have saved the lives of so many people by thinning the blood.

And it all came about because some cows ate certain grass which thinned their blood until they bled to death. Intelligence is valuable to identify this phenomenon when it is seen, but the man to identify anything had to possess an enormous knowledge of chemistry and bio-chemistry.

Knowledge of this kind is most advantageously obtained in universities in an orderly disciplined fashion under the tutelage of highly-trained men and women. Intelligence is good but not good enough.

'I Still Don't Know How He Does It'

Southeast Asia's Future Hinges On Samneua

By Joseph Alsop

SAMNEUA, Laos.

Quite suddenly the future of Southeast Asia (for that is the real stake in the game in Laos) has come to hinge on this place. What, then, is this Samneua where the tragedy of Dien Bien Phu threatens to be reenacted on a smaller scale, but with even more far reaching results?

To this reporter, on his second visit to the front here, Samneua is many different things at once. It is, to begin with, a landscape of the strangest beauty, unlike any in the world except in Southeast Asia.

The place lies in a short and narrow valley, wholly surrounded by steep mountains and craggy hills. In this season of the rains, the river rushes through the valley all brown and turbid. The rice fields are bright emerald. The great forest trees mingled with the plumes of giant bamboos on the mountain slopes show a hundred other greens. Even the landscape is important, for Samneua lives by its air strip; and a mountain almost literally rises from each end of the runway, the fantastic approach to Samneua is impossible for anything bigger than a C47.

Then, besides landscape, Samneua is people. A prince of Samneua once had his petty court here; but the prince's ex-capital is no bigger than a large village. The mud and thatch built houses begin by the plank bridge over the rushing river and straggle along a dusty road for half a mile or so. Below the bridge, the children swim naked. Above the bridge is the bathing place of the adults. There are always pale copper-bronze bodies making painters patterns in the tobacco colored water.

The bathers, the people in the little shops, the women in the market place who will sell you leaf-wrapped packets of mountain opium, are all oddly calm and cheerful, considering that the nearest enemy forces are only five miles from the village. You see no smiles among the refugees from the surrounding region now held by the Communist invaders from North Viet Nam. There are many hundreds of them now—whole home defense companies with their weapons, entire families from the frontier villages, women and children who have come in alone, leaving the men to fight as Maquis in the jungles. Yet among the refugees there is no sign of the glum hopelessness of refugees in other parts of the world.

The people are also important, if only because anyone who talks to many of the refugees cannot possibly retain any of the comforting doubts expressed at home about the reality and massiveness of the invasion from North Viet Nam. It is easy to say that "the aggression is not proven," when you are fiv. thousand miles from the scene. But talk to a few dozen of these simple, brave, uncomplaining men and women who have been driven from their homes by the Communist invaders. Then the aggression will seem very real to you indeed.

Then, besides people, Samneua is history. For more than two millenia this part of Southeast Asia has been the haven for successive migrations pushed out of China by the remorseless expansion of the Chinese. The last comers have always driven their predecessors further up the mountains. The result is a sort of human layer cake, with the richest layer at the bottom.

Thus the Laos, like the Thais of Thailand, were first pushed by the Chinese out of what is now Central China, and then, another millenium later, were pushed out of South China. They were the last comers here; and so the Laos hold the rice lands. The Meos, the Black Thais and other such-like people live at the mid-level of the hills. And the poor, primitive Khas, the indigenous race, eke out their pitiful living on the peaks and crests.

Symbolically at least, this history is important too. For Samneua is now in deadly danger from a Communist invasion, solely because the age-old process of Chinese expansion has begun again with a new explosive force.

Finally, besides history, Samneua is also the main base and stronghold of the Lao army's resistance to the Communist invaders—which was, of course, why this reporter came to Samneua at all. But as a military base, it must be admitted, Samneua is not dramatically impressive.

At first, indeed, except for the troops and supplies being landed on the airstrip, you see no sign that the place has any military meaning. The Lao army, having almost no communications, does almost no paper work, and the entire staff of the Regional Commander, General Amkha, fits comfortably into a screened veranda at his house on a hill above the village. Besides the refugee home guards, there are almost no soldiers in the village streets.

But look at the crests of the encircling hills and mountains. Here and there, you will notice a crest which has been stripped of jungle growth, so that you can just see the outline of a tent or two. Here are the nearer outposts. As for the rest of Samneua's seven defending battalions, you must make a jungle march to reach them. But the enemy, never seen in this war unless he is upon you, is nonethe-less so near Samneua that the jungle march is now very short.

Such is Samneua, a pleasant, infinitely remote, once peaceful little place that is suddenly being humbled and will perhaps soon be crushed by the jaws of great events. It is hard to believe that the fate of Southeast Asia may hang upon Samneua's fate. Yet it may; really may.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

"MOUSEDONIA"—Although indirect, a good word has been spoken for the new Senate office building. The brave words have been spoken by Senator Hugh Scott, Pennsylvania Republican, whose offices are in the old building.

He put it this way: "In this building we are unhampered by luxury, new carpets, doors for newly cut partitions in the walls or other attributes of gracious living.

"We are at war with the world of small animals. Along the basement corridors, even in the height of the tourist season, mice outnumber constituents. The feminine members of my staff report that mice are so numerous as to cause considerable distress of mind. In fact this may lead to a female boycott of the basement floor except when absolutely necessary."

There is serious consideration of issuing an appeal to the housekeeping committee of the Senate to "come over to Mousedonia and help us."

Recreating Mutual Trust Will Be Eisenhower-Khrushchev Problem

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Georgi Zaroubin, former Russian Ambassador to the United States, used to remind his staff that Soviet officers were once given a special section in the Pentagon in Washington, guarded by their own Red Army troops, from which they could send their own coded messages to Moscow without monitoring or other interference by the United States.

Ambassador Zaroubin, who was more friendly to the United States than most people realized, cited this as an illustration of how closely the USA and USSR had worked together during the war, and how mutual trust prevailed at that time.

For there is no trust between Russia and the United States today. The propaganda machines of both countries have been pounding away at each other so hard and for so long that there is profound distrust, plus fear that commitments, if made, will be broken. And if we are to begin a period of peaceful competition, or co-existence, as Khrushchev indicated in his recent "Foreign Affairs" article, there has got to be trust in each nation's commitments. This is the only alternative to war. It's important to remember, however, that trust did prevail during the war, and has been attested to by such hard-boiled statesmen as Winston Churchill and Adm. William D. Leahy, who sat in on the Teheran, Yalta and Potsdam conferences.

Russia Kept Its Word

"Fears expressed by many," Leahy wrote in his memoirs, "that Russia would make a separate peace with Germany, particularly when we were unable to mount a second front in 1943, have proved unfounded. Russia had kept every military agreement made before then."

But as the war neared its final stages, suspicion began to creep in. Significantly it was generated by exactly the same problem which caused deadlock at the recent Geneva conference, deadlock at the summit conference of 1955 and has disrupted American-Russian relations for 15 years—the future of Germany.

The Soviet leaders were deathly afraid that a new and powerful Germany might rise again, and that we would help build it.

Because this basic problem of Germany will be the main subject of conversation between Eisenhower and Khrushchev, it's important to go back and examine history.

The first flare-up of distrust between the USSR and its allies occurred in March 1945, just two months before Hitler surrendered. Allen Dulles, brother of the late John Foster Dulles, and the "U. S. master spy" in Switzerland, had picked up intimations that German Gen. Karl Wolff, ranking SS officer in Italy, wanted to arrange for the surrender of German forces in Northern Italy.

Playing it straight with our Russian allies, the State Department informed Moscow of this move on March 11. But when Foreign Minister Molotov wanted three Soviet officers present at any talks to be held with the Germans, Gen. John R. Deane, U. S. military attache in Moscow, opposed. His recommendation was accepted by Washington, and a meeting was held with General Wolff on March 19 at Locarno, Switzerland, with two Allied officers present, but no Russians.

Stalin Gets Savage

"During the last two weeks," accused Molotov on March 23, "behind the back of the Soviet government, which has been carrying on the main burden of the war against Germany, representatives of the American and British command and representatives of the Germany military command are carrying on negotiations. The government of the USSR considers this absolutely inadmissible."

Stalin in an even harsher note to Roosevelt claimed that the talks had permitted the Nazis to transfer three divisions from Italy to the Eastern Front, thus saving British-American lives at the expense of Russian lives.

"As a result of these separate negotiations in Berne," Stalin wrote Roosevelt in a second note, "the Anglo-American troops get the possibility to advance into the heart of Germany almost without resistance. . . . At the same time, the Germans continue the war with Russia, the ally of England and the United States."

"The Anglo-Americans have promised in return to ease for the Germans the peace terms," Stalin charged.

Roosevelt's Death

His death helped restore some degree of unity among the three chief allies, but only temporarily. Suspicion continued and grew more bitter.

It is impossible at this point in history to ascertain which side was most to blame. Historians will probably debate this for years to come. To this observer, who closely followed this difficult period, there was considerable fault on both sides. Stalin and the Russians, suspicious by nature, knew that before the war, the Cliveden set in London, with many followers in the United States, had done its best to foment war between Germany and Russia.

At the same time, Harry Truman, who in his memoirs frankly admitted his own inadequacy in coping with the crisis following FDR's death, also suffered from an inferiority complex. He too was suspicious.

So suspicion and distrust on both sides was compounded, with the question of a powerful and possibly belligerent Germany the basic cause of that suspicion.

How the distrust grew and the means by which Eisenhower and Khrushchev may remove it will be the subject of future columns.

Holding The Line

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK—Contrary to the "dope," the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, for the moment at least, is holding the line on its discount rate. This is the charge to member banks borrowing at the Federal Reserve.

No change in the present 3½ per cent rate was announced after the market's close Sept. 3—the normal time for such announcements.

Expectations had been that the discount rate would be raised to 4 per cent. The 3½ per cent rate was established three months ago. That was the fifth increase from the 1¾ rate set in April of 1958.

There is strong opinion that, regardless of the increase by commercial banks in their prime money rates from 4½ to 5 per cent, the Federal Reserve should go slow in following the crowd.

This opinion is that the Reserve should wait until the picture as to Fall and early Winter is clearer. If the steel strike continues through Oct. 1, it can slow down the business boom. If that should happen, money would become easier.

Also if this should develop—a slowdown in business—and if the Reserve were to raise the discount rate now, the Federal Reserve might have to backtrack very fast, as it did after mistakenly raising money rates too rapidly and too far in 1957.

In August of '57, the Federal Reserve in the face of a declining stock market and business, jacked the discount rate to 3½ per cent—the seventh straight increase, starting in April of '55 from 1½ per cent.

The situation today is not strictly comparable to August of '57, although the stock market has been declining. Business, though, is booming in spite of the steel strike. This, as noted above, could change if the steel strike runs beyond Oct. 1. So, a wait and see policy seems the smart course for the Federal Reserve—if it has the courage.

Also, there is very little chiseling on the discount rate, even with prime money rates at 5 per cent. Chiseling is making some easy money by rediscounting 5 per cent better paper at the Federal at a cost of 3½ per cent.

The prime rate is what the commercial banks charge their top-quality customers on short term loans. This rate influences that charged for lesser quality borrowers and also mortgage rates.

The Reserve's tight money policy—which was revived a year ago—is on the assumption that it will curb the inflation. This is on the assumption—a mistaken one in this writer's opinion—that today's inflation is a credit one. It isn't.

This is a wage-price spiral and government deficit spending inflation, on which money rates have little influence. If anything, higher interest costs add to the inflation—forcing up costs of carrying the federal, state and local debts—which means more taxes.

The only way the wage-price spiral can be checked is through more efficient production. This is the main issue in the steel strike. Management is seeking to regain some of its rights to manage that have been bargained away in past wage settlements.

The big danger in the mounting costs of borrowing is the effect these charges will have on home building. The home builder can pass part of the higher interest onto Government, for mortgage interest is tax deductible at the home owner's top bracket.

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

No one knows the cause of cancer of the large intestine but the possibility that virus is responsible crops up from time to time. We know for certain that polyps of the colon and ulcerative colitis are forerunners of malignancy in many cases. A recent discovery may answer the question as to how the virus fits into the picture.

Dr. Cecilie Leuchtenberger noted peculiar round bodies in polyp cells of the rectum and colon. The particles contain desoxyribose nucleic acid (DNA). They were not present in the normal cells of the intestinal wall or in the polyps that developed elsewhere in the body. Nasal polyps, for example, never became cancerous. In this respect they differ from those in the bowel.

Dr. Ferdinand C. Helwig of Kansas City continued these studies and found identical round nuclei in the intestinal wall of 56 per cent of persons with long standing chronic ulcerative colitis. This fits into the jigsaw puzzle because the incidence of cancer of the colon is higher in victims of chronic ulcerative colitis, especially if the condition has lasted 10 or more years.

Cancer occurs 30 to 100 times more often in this group than in those who do not have the disease. Irritation from colitis encourages the development of polyps which, in many instances, become cancerous.

Dr. Leuchtenberger noted these bodies in more than 600 cases of benign and malignant polyps in the rectum. Preliminary studies under the electron microscope indicate that viruses are in these bodies. This suggests but does not prove that viruses are responsible for colon cancer. This information adds nothing to our attack on cancer at present, except to remind us that polyps in this area are potentially dangerous and should be removed. Perhaps the viruses get into the colon during an ordinary cold, intestinal flu, as other innocent disease.

CHOLESTEROL

D. J. writes: Do cocktails make a high blood cholesterol higher?

REPLY

There is no cholesterol or fat in cocktails except perhaps a trace in the olive. To my knowledge, no resaerch has been done on the effect of alcohol on the blood cholesterol level.

FLABBY AFTER REDUCING

Mrs. G. writes: Since taking off weight the skin on my arms and legs is flabby. Will massaging with alcohol do any good?

REPLY

Massage may help a bit but it will take time for the skin to regain its tone. Exercise may be of some value. Plastic surgery will be needed to get rid of large aprons of skin.

SWITCHING TO PILLS

E. P. writes: Would a diabetic who has been using insulin by injection have to go to the hospital if he switched to pills? Or could the changeover be made safely at home or in the doctor's office?

REPLY

This depends upon the severity of the disease. Many diabetics have been switched to tablets in the home or the office. But it is easier and safer to do so in the hospital where a more careful study of blood sugar levels and the urine can be made.

WAX SHORTAGE

T. W. writes: What causes dry ears?

REPLY

Dermatitis of the lining membranes and too little wax are the most common causes.

SHAVING AT 13

Mrs. R. writes: Is age 13 too young for a girl to start shaving underarm hair?

REPLY

No.

MENOPAUSE

R. L. writes: How many women lose their minds during the menopause?

REPLY

Not many. Those who do were emotionally unstable long before the menopause. In this respect, the mental break and the change are coincidental.

EYE HEADACHE

R. M. writes: In headache due to eyestrain what part of the head hurts?

REPLY

Behind and above the eyes.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A Texas industrialist had to visit our big new state, Alaska, but he was on the defensive every moment that he was there—and conceded nothing. Out in one of his customer's small boats, the Texan spotted an iceberg near the horizon and smiled for the first time in days. "I'll grant you one thing," he told his host. "Your ice cubes are bigger than ours."

Tribe Wins Pair From Orioles; Chisox Beat Senators

Cleveland Extends Win Skein To Six

Pick Up Ground In AL Race With 3-2, 4-1 Victories

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The Cleveland Indians ran their winning streak to six straight games Wednesday night and climbed to within 4½ games of first place by defeating the Baltimore Orioles, 3-2 and 4-1 in a twi-night double-header.

Veteran Jack Harshman and rookie Jim Perry gave an excellent demonstration of control pitching as both hurled five-hitters.

Harshman did not walk a batter in winning the first game while Perry did not issue a pass in the second until he walked Bob Nieman with one out in the ninth. It was Perry's only walk.

Three of the five hits off Perry came in the fourth inning when the Orioles tied the score at 1-1. Gene Woodling, Bob Boyd and Brooks Robinson contributed two-out singles to ruin Perry's bid for a shutout. The win was his 11th against seven defeats. He struck out three.

Cleveland tagged the loss on Hal Brown who is now 9-8. Rocky Colavito's double scoring Minnie Minoso in the sixth broke the 1-1 tie and the Tribe added two insurance runs in the seventh on three singles and Woodie Held's triple.

Willie Tasby's three-base error on George Strickland's ninth-inning single to center enabled the Tribe to win the opener.

Strickland's hit, his third of the game, dropped in front of the on-charging Tasby, shot by him and then rolled to the base of the wire screen in centerfield, 410 feet from home plate.

Before Tasby could retrieve the ball Strickland had rounded the bases to give Harshman his fourth win since joining Cleveland. The ex-Oriole left hander has lost none. His overall record for the season is 6-9.

Errors Aid Chicago Gain 5-1 Triumph

Bob Shaw Posts 15th Win But Sox Lead Is Reduced

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The streaking Chicago White Sox, making the most of the least as usual, took advantage of three Washington errors in the seventh inning to score four runs Wednesday night and beat the Senators, 5-1, behind Bob Shaw's seven-hit pitching.

Shaw, who lost his last two starts, blanked the Senators in every inning but the sixth when they put together singles by Harmon Killebrew, Jim Lemon and Bob Allison to tie the score at 1-1. The victory was Shaw's 15th against 6 defeats.

Ted Kluszewski started Chicago's winning rally in the seventh when he walked and took second on an infield out. Bill Goodman then grounded to Billy Consolo who tried to get Kluszewski at third but hit him in the back with the ball.

Klu reached third and Goodman was safe at first on the error. Al Smith's single drove home Kluszewski and sent Goodman to third. Jim Rivera followed with an infield single that scored pinch runner Sam Esposito. Shaw then bunted safely down the third base line and Killebrew, charging in, accidentally pushed the ball across the plate.

Killebrew retrieved the ball and, thinking Smith was going to score, threw wildly past catcher Steve Korcheck allowing Smith to come home. Dick Hyde relieved loser Tex Clevenger and gave up a sacrifice fly to Luis Aparicio that scored Rivera.

Despite the victory, the White Sox's lead in the American League race was shaved to 4½ games when the second-place Indians swept a twi-night doubleheader from the Orioles.

Co-Medalist Loses Match

Miss Shobe Beaten In Trans-Miss Golf

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (UPI) — National amateur champion Barbara McIntire of Lake Park, Fla., eliminated co-medalist Barbara Ann Slobe of Waukegan, Ill., 5 and 4 Wednesday to advance to the quarter-finals of the Trans-Miss women's golf tournament.

That left only one of the three co-medalists still alive in the swift competition. Judy Eller, the national collegiate golfing queen of Old Hickory, Tenn., eased by Mrs. Ruth White Miller of Long, Beach, Calif., 3 and 2 to gain the quarter-finals.

Judy Englehorn, the other teenager to earn the medalist honor in qualifying, went out Tuesday before Betsy Cullen, the Tulsa, Okla., putting artist.

Wednesday Miss Cullen's putter was hot again and she enjoyed a two-up lead at the turn but confident Sherry Wheeler of Glasgow, Ky., kept coming strong with her long shots and finally won 2 and 1. Miss Wheeler didn't lose a hole on the back side, winning four before she closed out the match with a par 3 on the short 17th hole.

Another favorite survived by a close margin. Mrs. Paul Dye, Jr., of Indianapolis, Ind., was extended to the final hole by Mrs. Maurice Glick before a par 5 got her the match and a quarter-final berth.

Reds Sweep Twin Bill From Cubs

Win 7-2 Following 4-2 10-Inning Tilt

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Cincinnati Reds swept a double-header from the Chicago Cubs Wednesday, winning the opener 4-2 on four singles in the tenth inning and taking the five-inning nightcap 7-2 with home runs by Vada Pinson, Ed Bailey and Frank Robinson.

The double victory gave the Reds sole possession of fifth place. Starter Bob Purkey broke a six-game losing streak with his 11th win in the opener which was delayed 32 minutes by rain.

Pinson got the Reds off to a one-run lead in the first inning and Bailey walloped a two-run homer in the second. The Reds scored four runs in the fifth inning when Nuxhall led off with a double and Gus Bell singled to score him after a walk to Pinson. Robinson then belted his 35th home run of the year over the left-center field wall to score behind Pinson and Bell.

Jerry Lynch, batting for Purkey, hit the third straight single off Glen Hobbie in the 10th inning of the first game to score Eddie Kasko and break a 2-2 tie.

Kasko opened the inning by beating out a slow roller toward third base. Bailey's pinch single moved him to second and he then scored on Lynch's hit.

Bailey was forced at third on Johnny Temple's grounder and Robinson singled off reliever Bill Henry to bring in pinch-runner Bob Henrich with an insurance run.

Old Germans Defeat Post, Enter Finals

Sports Shoppe, Legion Play Tie

The Old Germans rallied for two runs on a throwing error in the fifth inning yesterday to defeat Post Playground, 9-7, capturing their best-of-three semi-final playoffs in the Rec Softball League at Naval Reserve field.

The triumph gave the Old Germans two straight over Post after the Playground tossers had won the opener of the three-game set, 11-2. The Old Gees won the second game 9-6.

Jerry Willison started the winning rally for the Old Gees with a single in the fifth. Tex Ritter and Jim Dunn were both hit by pitches and with two out Vernon Shrout fanned for what should have been the inning ending out. But catcher Ronnie Lewis dropped the third strike and then threw wildly past first as Shrout reached base safely. Willison and Ritter romped home to break a 7-7 deadlock on the double miscue.

Ivan Abe socked a three-run homer to spark a four-run rally for Post in the fifth frame. Paul Stickley had a double, Ronnie Lewis collected two singles and Jim Leamon had a pair of base knocks to account for all six of the losers' bingles.

At Stitcher Field the Sport Shoppe and Ridgeley Legion battled to a 4-4 tie in a game called at the end of seven innings because of darkness. The teams split their first two games of the semi-final playoffs and rescheduled the third and deciding tilt for Friday at 6 p. m. at Stitcher field following yesterday's deadlock.

Both teams collected six hits with Charles Denmark socking a double and Rich Smith collecting a two-run single in the first frame when the Sport Shoppe tallied three times.

The Legion tossers scored three runs in the fourth inning then tied the score at 4-all in the bottom of the sixth with back-to-back doubles by Walt Abe and Jim Weakley.

Yanks Blank Kansas City

Ditmar And Ford Hurl 4-0 Victory

NEW YORK (UPI) — Art Ditmar and Whitey Ford blanked the Kansas City Athletics on four hits Wednesday night as the New York Yankees scored a 4-0 victory.

Ditmar pitched the first eight innings in handing the Athletics their 12th straight defeat and Ford came on to preserve the shutout in the ninth.

The Yankees hung the loss on ex-teammate Johnny Kucks with two unearned runs in the second and a pair of earned runs in the fourth.

Latter Set Modern VPI Rushing Mark

BLACKSBURG, Va., Sept. — Virginia Tech's coaching staff is facing the usual number of question marks, but the Gobbler staff apparently also has one definite answer, Pat Henry.

In overall depth, the Tech halfback positions will depend to a great extent on untried sophomores, but Henry, 5-9, 175, junior letterman from Hagerstown, Md., is the man the coaches rate as their best all-around halfback since Dickie Beard, of Cumberland.

Last season, Henry led the Techmen in scoring (44 points, including seven TDs), rushing (most carries, 78, most yards, 375, best average, 4.8 a carry and longest run from scrimmage, 65) and punt returns.

"Still, I think we tended to under-rate him because at times he didn't play the kind of defense we thought he was capable of playing. Right now, however, he's doing it all and looks as though he's going to be a really great one," Coach Frank Moseley points out.

Pat's father, Mel Henry, now coach at Hagerstown's North High School, still ranks as one of Tech's all-time greats, having led the Gobblers in scoring as a junior in 1936 with 30 points, and a senior with 48.

Pat could surpass these marks because he has the speed to be a "home run" threat, the power and stamina to be the workhorse among the ball carriers and the desire to put the ball in the end zone every time he carries it.

If he has the kind of season Moseley anticipates, Henry will be in a good position to break the modern Tech rushing marks set by Beard, who chalked up 280 carries for 1378 during his last three varsity years.

SEEKS ASYLUM—Francisco Sanchez Leonardo, captain of the Dominican Republic boxing team, said yesterday he will seek political asylum in the United States. The Pan American Games athlete, speaking through Constantine Kangles, general counsel in the U. S. for the government of Cuba, said he never saw liberty until he came to Chicago and "now he'd rather die than let it go." (AP Photofax).

Floyd Patterson Caught Speeding

KINGSTON, N.Y. (UPI)—Former heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson was arrested Wednesday for speeding on the New York State Thruway.

Patterson, 24, of Mt. Vernon, was taken into custody by trooper Ray Gavigan of the State Thruway Patrol as he pulled into a service area. Patterson was accused of traveling at speeds in excess of 80 miles per hour on the 60-mile-per-hour superhighway.

Taken before Judge Robert Ferrigan in the town of Ulster, Patterson pleaded guilty and was fined $50.

Squad's Initial Casualty Is Coach

STORRS, Conn. (AP)—The University of Connecticut had its first football casualty of the season Wednesday—the coach. Head Coach Bob Ingalls put his squad through a one-hour scrimmage, and wasn't quite satisfied with a pass play. In showing the team how he wanted the play handled, Ingalls jumped, tossed the ball. He suffered a charley horse in the left leg when he landed.

Colts Cut Halfback From Grid Roster

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts Wednesday asked waivers on offensive halfback Ferd Burket, reducing the preseason roster to 41 players.

Holmberg Is Victor Over Butch Buchholz

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (UPI) — Wimbledon champion Alex Olmedo of Peru and Neale Fraser of Australia, solid favorites to clash for the title, gained the quarter-final round of the U. S. tennis singles championships Wednesday on a hot, humid afternoon marred by a 50-minute rainstorm.

Two unseeded Americans —21 year old Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn and U. S. clay court king Bernard (Tut) Bartzen of San Angelo, Tex.—also made it with Holmberg turning in the second major upset of the tournament by completing a delayed five-set victory over seventh-seeded Earl (Butch) Buchholz of St. Louis, 6-3, 7-5, 8-10, 5-7, 6-3. Holmberg led, two sets to one, when his match with Buchholz was halted by darkness Tuesday night.

Olmedo, Wimbledon and Australian champion, was extremely sharp and dispatched talented 18-year-old Chuck McKinley of St. Louis, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4, in a center court match played after the storm. Fraser earlier had trounced 20-year-old Rudy Hernando of Detroit, 6-0, 6-2, 6-3.

Bartzen, a cool, retrieving left-hander, outlasted 36-year-old Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, 2-6, 8-10, 6-0, 6-3, 6-1, in a match interrupted by rain with Bartzen leading 4-0 in the fifth set. In his previous match, Seixas, former Wimbledon and U. S. champion, upset fifth-seeded Ramanathan Krishnan of India.

A fifth men's match between third-seeded Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, and young Bob Mark of Australia, which officials had hoped to stage, was postponed until Thursday.

Memphis Open To Begin Today

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — A heavy rain drenched the Ridgeway Country Club course Wednesday as the nation's top women pro golfers began arriving for the $7,500 Memphis Women's Open Tournament.

A pro-am tournament scheduled Wednesday was called off because of the downpour. About 24 of the top women professionals will tee off Thursday on the par 77, 6,700-yard course for 72 holes of medal play.

Giants Whip Pittsburgh As Willie Mays Stars, 7-2

Bucs Drop Seventh Game In Last Eight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Willie Mays cracked his 27th homer Wednesday and took advantage of a "boner" by Pirate first baseman Dick Stuart to score another run while leading the pennant bound San Francisco Giants to a 7-2 victory over Pittsburgh.

Willie gave San Francisco a 2-0 lead in the third inning with a bases-empty belt high into the left-center field stands. Then in the fifth inning he capitalized on a lapse by Stuart to score as the Giants were tallying three times on one hit off hard-luck southpaw Harvey Haddix.

With the bases filled and one out Orlando Cepeda grounded to shortstop Dick Groat who threw to second baseman Bill Mazeroski for a second out. Mazeroski fired the ball to Stuart in an attempt at a double play and the Pittsburgh slugger held onto it in apparent disbelief after Umpire Frank Dascoli called Cepeda safe.

While this was going on Mays steamed home from second base behind winning pitcher Jack Sanford, thus giving Cepeda two runs batted in on a fielder's choice.

Cepeda then scored the third run of the frame when he stole second and came in on Mazeroski's muff of a pop fly by Felipe Alou. Stuart seemed ready to take the ball, then gave way to Mazeroski at the last second.

It was the fourth straight loss for the crumbling Pirates and their seventh in eight games. Sanford, with an assist from Stu Miller in the eighth inning, posted his 13th victory against 12 losses.

Brewster Rights Go To Steelers

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Cleveland Browns Wednesday traded the rights of retired veteran end Pete Brewster to the Pittsburgh Steelers in exchange for an undisclosed draft choice.

Nurse Gets Fellowship

A graduate of Memorial Hospital School of Nursing has been granted a training fellowship by the Florida State Health Department to the University of Maryland School of Nursing, Baltimore.

Miss Banna Rodriguez, daughter of Joseph and the late Caroline Rodriguez, Luke, is scheduled to begin studies on her master's degree September 21.

A veteran of three theatres of operation in the Army Nurse Corps during World War II (Iceland, ETO and the Pacific), Miss Rodriguez is a consultant in mental health for Palm Beach County. Prior to going to Florida, she was employed by the Atomic Energy Commission at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

A captain in the Army Reserve, she received her bachelor's degree in public health nursing at the University of Michigan after World War II. Miss Rodriguez is also a graduate of Bruce High School, Westernport.

Public, Parochial Schools Back For 1959-60 Session

A spot check showed most reporting an increase in enrollment, one a decrease because of a student transfer necessitated by crowded conditions, while a few others said enrollment figures would not be available for a few days.

Ralph R. Webster, county superintendent of schools, said the opening of schools yesterday went along smoothly. The Board of Education has estimated an enrollment in public schools of 16,000.

There was the usual hectic time of settling back into the routine after a three-month vacation, however.

Public schools will hold another half day session today with the first full day Friday.

Mrs. Gladys M. Eaton, supervisor of cafeterias, said the first school lunches will be served Friday. The menu will consist of toasted cheese sandwich, pickle chips, potato salad with eggs, frosted apple sauce, tinted green, unbaked cookie and milk.

The lunch price will be unchanged—25 cents for children of the first three grades and 30 cents for children in other grades.

Reports from two of the city's parochial schools had higher attendance totals than recorded last year.

Sister Hilda, principal of SS. Peter and Paul School and Ursuline Academy, said 603 students attended grade school classes yesterday, and 183 were enrolled in the academy. The overall total is approximately 100 more than last year's enrollment, Sister Hilda said.

Sister Herman Joseph said 420 students reported for classes yesterday at St. Mary's School. The total for the eight grades is higher than at least year's figure, with at least 10 more expected to be added to the enrollment by the end of the week.

Freshmen will enroll today at LaSalle High School, with the upper classmen scheduled to report for enrollment at 9 a. m. Friday. Full sessions will begin next week.

Virginia Avenue PTA To Meet Today

The first meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of Virginia Avenue School will be held today at 7 p. m. at the school. There will be no classroom visitation.

The meeting will be featured by a report from Mrs. Guy Smith, the delegate to the summer conference. Following the meeting, the executive committee will hold a pie and coffee social in the school cafeteria.

Lilya In Hospital

Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator, was reported in "good" condition yesterday at Memorial Hospital where he was admitted as a medical patient on Sunday.

800 Vaccine Shots Arrive

The Salk vaccine supply in Cumberland is limited, but 800 shots were delivered yesterday to the Allegany County Health Department.

A spokesman for the Health Department said the supply arrived from Baltimore yesterday and polio immunization shots will be resumed during regular well-baby clinics.

However, a check with several local drug stores, revealed the supply is very limited. Only one firm reported an ample supply of vaccine on hand.

Most local druggists said there has been a shortage for the past five to six weeks, due mainly to the reports of polio deaths in the Cumberland area.

Market's Late Rally Cuts Into Heavy Early Losses

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks nearly duplicated Tuesday's 9-point loss in industrials before staging a late rally to recover more than half the early loss.

Trading picked up in the erratic market which saw prices firm after the opening, decline throughout the afternoon, and rally before the close. Sales totaled 3,030,000 shares, against 2,940,000 Tuesday.

The early firmness mainly reflected President Eisenhower's plea for an end to the steel strike. There was no follow through of the initial buying, however, and prices dropped to their lows for the day by mid-afternoon. The decline was said to reflect the lack of buyers rather than any general sell-off.

The protracted steel strike, international political developments and possibility of some action by the Federal Reserve Board Thursday afternoon on money rates combined to depress sentiment among traders.

Electronics shares again were the heaviest losers although up substantially from their lows. Motorola lost 2½, and Beckman Instruments and Consolidated Electrodynamics more than 1 each.

Chemicals also were hard hit with Union Carbide off 3¼, Victor Chemical works off 2 and DuPont off 1⅜, the latter recovering from an early 8-point loss.

Rails recovered slightly from the day's low but still finished at a new 1959 low. Utilities were small losers.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Be Charming On Paper!

"But note writing is so old-fashioned," my young neighbor protested when her mother urged her to pen a thank-you note.

"Indeed it is not, dear, and never will be," her mother said. "Everyone who does things in the nicest ways always prefers saying thank you in her own handwriting."

I agree heartily. Note writing at the proper time is a social grace that is timeless, and it has charms far beyond the mere observance of etiquette. Think of the gay little notes of appreciation you have received, and you'll remember what a delight they were, and realize in what high esteem you hold the persons who sent them.

Perhaps because it isn't easy to settle a youngster down to writing, some young girls have little experience at it until they are faced with the task of acknowledging wedding gifts. But no one with her eye on a charmer's goal should wait until this situation occurs, nor must she allow herself to forget note-writing later.

Thank a hostess for entertaining you, for a weekend or for a dinner party, or for lesser graciousness toward you. Thank a giver for a gift. Write it, and do it promptly. Promptness is almost as important as writing at all. And write condolences simply and from the heart.

How do you know what to say? The best guide is to write as you speak. The note needn't be long, and it shouldn't be, but it should sound genuine, warm and very like you. Simple, undecorated note paper is best.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Favorable crop reports brought selling into the grain market Wednesday, and most prices were weaker on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the final bell, wheat was off ½ to 1⅛; corn off 1 to up ½; oats unchanged; new oats off ⅛ to ½; rye off ⅝ to 2, and soybeans off 1 to 1⅛.

Wheat prices dropped more than a cent in the September under liquidating pressure. Demand was only fair. Spreaders took September and sold deferred contracts, which also were weaker. Local traders were sellers.

In corn, September rallied from early lows. Evening-up transactions continued. December and March fell to new lows for the season on early general selling. Local buying appeared on the decline. Receipts were light. Export subsidies were granted on 350,000 bushels.

The oats trade was light, and prices were easier. An export house bought some December. Local longs were the best sellers.

Rye was down 2 cents in the September. Other months also finished weak.

Soybeans lost more than a cent. Longs were the main sellers, as in the rest of the grain market. Some cash interests bought early. Reports that harvests were already under way in some areas because of the hot, dry weather were an influence in the selling. Traders awaited the government crop report due Thursday afternoon.

Meals were lower. In the only export trade reported, Japan purchased 511,000 bushels of Pacific wheat.

Outside markets were mostly lower. The Range:

Ohio DA Seeks Data On Local Theft Attempt

Three Defendants Are Free On Bail

The district attorney and assistant district attorney of Cincinnati, Ohio, were in Cumberland yesterday to confer with local and county authorities about a case in which three men were charged with conspiring to attempt to break into the Montgomery Ward Store here.

The Ohio officials met with State's Attorney James S. Getty and City Police Detective Lt. James E. Van to discuss details of the case.

The defendants, Albert Samuel Wright, 42, and Charles Issacs, 32, both of Newport, Ky., and Andrew Joe Forkes, 51, Phoenix, Ariz., were given a preliminary hearing last week in Trial Magistrate Court and were ordered held for action of the October term of the grand jury. They were released after each posted $500 bond.

The Ohio authorities told county authorities that Wright had been recently convicted of a charge of possession of burglary tools, but had appealed the decision.

They said two courts of appeals had upheld the sentence in the case and that Wright was released on $60,000 bond pending another appeal hearing in Cincinnati on October 1.

City Police arrested the three men about 11 p. m. on August 27 and charged them with conspiring to break into the local store.

A fourth man, Nate Bartell, 42, of Cincinnati, was arrested August 31 in Cincinnati in connection with the case. City Police found a complete set of burglary tools in the trunk of Bartell's car.

Mr. Getty has sent papers to Ohio authorities for the purpose of extradition so Bartell may face a charge here of possession of burglary tools.

Judge To File Opinion In Garrett Suit

Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley will file an opinion in a civil action heard yesterday in Garrett County Circuit Court between the owners of a Deep Creek Lake Motel on Route 219 and owners of a coop housing 12 chickens on the other side of the highway.

Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Vannucci, owners of the Point View Inn brought suit for an injunction against Mr. and Mrs. Carl Harvey, owners of the chickens.

Witnesses, including a number of out-of-state motel guests, testified on behalf of the plaintiffs and several residents of the area testified for the defendants.

The trial, which opened at 10 a. m., was concluded at 4:30 p. m. when Judge Fraley indicated he will file an opinion later.

In the declaration filed by Frederick A. Thayer and Stuart Hamill Jr. of Oakland, attorneys for the plaintiffs, it was contended that the chickens had lowered the value of their property.

They also declared that the chickens kept their tenants awake.

The object of the suit is to have an injunction issued against the Harveys, ordering them to move their coop and the 12 chickens.

In the answer filed by Horace P. Whitworth Jr. of Westernport, for the defendants, he countered that the tourists staying at the motel disturb the chickens and as a result they have stopped laying, or have reduced the number of eggs.

Whitworth also contended that the chickens were there first, that the Harveys raised poultry long before the motel was built.

Timber Industry Is Cited For Development In Area

The timber industry has been cited as the most promising development in Western Maryland and the Eastern Shore, according to the current news letter of the Maryland State Planning Commission.

It points out that a writer from Hancock reported that many people of that area, while working actively to bring industries into their communities, "have lost sight of the tremendous possibilities of the timber resources, particularly long term," adding:

"Through Hancock, a town of approximately 2,000, over $500,000 of timber products, mostly pulpwood, is shipped every year.

"There is an almost constant market for railroad ties, mine props and other lumber products. . . . With careful forest management the area's potential income from timber could easily be doubled in the years to come."

The Hancock Bank, the article continues, is offering prizes to farmers who plant a minimum of five acres in trees during the year ending June 1, 1960.

The article also quotes the Maryland Department of Forests and Parks that:

"Despite all that has been done publicly or by individuals, the fact remains that Maryland forests generally are not yet in economically good condition, and produce only about a third of their potential capacity.

Half of Maryland's timber production, the commission reports, comes from the Eastern Shore counties of Worcester, Dorchester, Wicomico and Somerset.

More Funds Are Sought For FSTC

Budget Request Increased 51.9%

Additional general fund appropriations to help run Frostburg State Teachers College and four other Maryland teachers colleges during the next fiscal year are being sought by the State Department of Education.

The department has requested a 47 per cent increase in general fund appropriations to help run the five colleges.

Frostburg State Teachers College, according to the department, is seeking $1,058,683, an increase of $361,657 or 51.9 per cent.

R. Bowen Hardesty, president of the college, last night said the requested increase is necessary due to a larger enrollment at the college which will require additional teaching materials and dietary service.

Also, there is a new salary scale for teachers by the department and an automatic increment for faculty members, as well as for classified employes at the institution.

The requested increase will be additional to the current budget and not for capital improvements, Mr. Hardesty said.

The budget proposals filed with the Department of Budget and Procurement ask for $4,719,275 in general funds, an increase of $1,508,829 over current appropriations.

Each of the five colleges asked for more money ranging from Salisbury's 39 per cent increase to 59.8 per cent for Coppin State.

Amounts sought by the four other colleges are:

Salisbury, $641,436, an increase of $180,013 or 39 per cent.

Bowie, $559,340, an increase of $188,043, or 45.7 per cent.

Coppin, $509,653, an increase of $190,762 or 59.8 per cent.

Back-To-Work Trek Begins At Sugar Grove

Crews Report To One Steel Firm

Steel began pushing toward the sky as some Cumberland iron workers reported back to work on the Navy's 79-million-dollar radio telescope project at Sugar Grove, W. Va., yesterday.

About two dozen members of Cumberland Local 568, Iron Workers Union, returned to work with Penn-Southern Construction Company after that firm agreed to pay a $5 a day subsistence allowance on the job.

But another 50-some workers disregarded orders of the union's international officers and failed to report for work with the American Bridge Company.

Samuel O. Philip Jr., business agent for the union, said the unauthorized work stoppage began last Tuesday as a result of a dispute over subsistence pay.

He said the lack of adequate living accommodations at reasonable cost near the Pendleton County site had aggravated the situation.

The men were ordered back to work this Tuesday by the international while the dispute was being arbitrated.

Mr. Philip said the subsistence pay is required by the local's contract when other crafts get it. Members of a roofer's local working at the project get a $7 a day allowance, he reported.

It was understood that members of Carpenters Local 1024 did not report back to work yesterday but union officials had no comment on the report.

Up to 120 members of the Iron Workers, Teamsters and Carpenters locals from Cumberland were affected by the Iron Workers subsistence pay dispute.
